Score of Children Injured When Tornado Demolishes Building in DeKalb County, Tennessee.

KENTUCKY SCHOOL IS ALSO WRECKED

Children and Teacher Escape—Baby Killed at Gage, Ky.—Tennessee and Illinois Also Hit.

Nashville, Tenn., January 24.—(AP) Four children killed, a fifth expected to die and Grady Carter, principal, and a score of other children injured when a tornado struck and demolished a rural school in DeKalb county today is the report made by Houston Webb, bus driver, who reached here late tonight.

No communication by wire could be established with Smithville, Sparta, Cookeville, McMinnville or other mountain towns east of here. Webb's story indicated that more damage was done in the Sparta area than had been reported in any middle Tennessee counties with which communication had been established.

The Holmes Creek school, six miles north of Smithville, according to Webb, was struck while a class was in session and was shattered while the children sought to escape. The dead children, he said, are named Hayes, Atkin, Greer and Smith. Another Smith child, he said, is expected to die. The principal suffered a fractured hip bone.

CHILDREN ESCAPE IN KENTUCKY

Paducah, Ky., January 24.—(AP) Twenty-one school children and their teacher narrowly escaped serious injury on the outskirts of Paducah today in one of the most terrific tornadoes which struck in Kentucky and Tennessee and took a toll of one life.

An infant daughter of A. Trico, a farmer, was killed when the Trico home near the village of Gage, Ky., was demolished. The fat was caught beneath the wreckage of a chimney. The school demolished was a one-story frame structure at Lang, largely two miles from the center of Paducah. Classes were in progress when the building was struck.

SOUTH CAROLINA CITY SWEEP BY GALE

Columbia, S. C., January 24.—(AP) Columbia was visited tonight by a terrific windstorm, accompanied by a heavy rain, which blew down telephone, telegraph and power poles and threw a great portion of the city in darkness, but with no accompanying loss of life.

CYCLONE GALES, FLOODS MENACE ENGLAND

London, January 24.—(United News.)—Great Britain again was at the mercy of cyclonic gales and floods today.

One person was killed and many injured as storms swept the country. Some sections reported wind velocity of 76 miles an hour, almost equaling in intensity some of the other storms of the unprecedented winter, which have caused more than 100 deaths.

Paces Cell Impatiently While Attorneys Prepare Plea To Send Him to Insane Asylum.

SAYS "I'LL BE GLAD WHEN IT IS OVER"

Mother of Slayer and Father of Mutilated Girl To Take Opposing Sides.

Los Angeles, January 24.—(United News.)—In an atmosphere made melodramatic by the hastening of his mother to his defense, William Edward Hickman goes to trial Wednesday for California's most revolting crime.

Pacing nervously about his cell while cursing guards and fellow prisoners, Hickman, who once bragged of the cunning and bravado of his deeds as "The Fox," expressed impatience to begin his first step toward the gallows, the insane asylum or freedom.

"I'll be glad when this thing starts and I'll be more than glad when it is over," the slayer of Marian Parker said on the eve of his trial.

Mother Also Impatient.

Mrs. Eva Hickman, tortured by weeks of anguish that followed her son's confession to the horrible crime, likewise was impatient for the trial to begin. "Why do they say such terrible things about me?" she asked. "I didn't come here to enlist sympathy for my son. And I don't want to defeat this thing they call justice. What mother wouldn't help her son at a time like this?"

Because of the dramatic nature of the reunion between mother and son in the county jail, much of the pre-trial interest has been manifested in this phase of the case.

But there was also Perry Parker, the bank executive who tried to buy back his daughter from a kidnaper who demanded a ransom of $1,500. The money of how the kidnaper, the mutilated and lifeless body of his favorite daughter tumbled at his feet still was fresh in his mind.

Hickman's mother will be the star defense witness; Marian's father will open the case for the prosecution.

Since Hickman is pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity," the state of his mentality will be the sole issue of the trial. The burden of proof will rest with Hickman and his lawyers. The nature of the slayer's plea was at the same time an admission of guilt.

Evils of a soiled pair of cards and the crossword puzzles, his constant friends in his month of confinement here, failed to amuse Hickman tonight. "The Fox" was a nervous and restless animal.

Incidentally, he seemed despondent and his jailers were ordered to watch him closely. With Hickman and his lawyers, the state was careful that the youth it hopes to swing from a gallows should not die prematurely.

"Getting On His Nerves."

"I wish this thing was over," he said. "Waiting for the trial sort of gets on my nerves. It's all a bunch of foolishness, anyway, because they'll hang me sure."

Then he returned to treading the short path between the barred door and the rear of his cell. "The Fox" was without visitors on this last day before the trial. Both state and defense attorneys were denied entrance and neither his mother nor his father made any attempt to see him.

The killer's mood improved about his parents and apparently had recovered from the brief spell of tears which marked the meeting with his mother Monday.

Mother Issues Statement. In a brief formal statement, Mrs. Hickman said she did not believe her son guilty of the crime charged but qualified it by adding "unless something is radically wrong with him" and again scored persons who accused her of complicity. There was a letter of sympathy to the cause of the murderer.

Another son, Alfred, who accompanied the mother here from Kansas City, will be with her when she enters Superior Judge Carlos Hardy's chambers tomorrow.

"SINGLE MEN" TAX FOR MISSISSIPPI PROPOSED IN BILL

Jackson, Miss., January 24.—(AP)—An annual tax of $10 on all single men and widowers between the ages of 20 and 40 years and without dependents would be imposed under the provisions of a bill introduced in the Mississippi legislature today by Senator E. F. Barlow, of Lincoln county, a bachelor. The funds derived therefrom would go to the common school system.

An amendment by Senator J. H. Culkin, Warren county, a married man, placed before the committee read: "The tax should be raised to $100 because it is worth more than $10 to be permitted to enjoy single bliss for a period of one year."

TEN MORE REBELS SLAIN IN SKIRMISH WITH U. S. MARINES

1,000 "Devil Dogs" Leave To Relieve Troops in Nicaragua Battle Zone Six Months.

Managua, Nicaragua, January 24.—(AP)—Between six and ten rebels have been killed by United States marine corps patrols in the vicinity of El Chipote in the past few days, marine corps headquarters was informed today.

The region where the rebel general Augustino Sandino had been active has been extremely quiet since a bombing attack by American planes ten days ago but today Colonel Louis Mason Gulick, in command of operations against the rebels, was notified that marine patrols had established contact with rebels several times in the last day or so.

Sandino Believed Wounded. Major Archibald Young, commander of the marines in the affected section, reported that a column of marines had established itself on the slopes of El Chipote mountain.

Sandino fled to El Chipote after marines captured his former headquarters. Quilich, from him in a battle the December 20. A week ago Saturday marine airplanes bombed El Chipote heavily, and air patrols later reported the town showed every evidence of desertion. Since then the region has been quiet, with marine patrols cautiously following their way toward the rebel chief's headquarters.

Colonel Gulick today said it was fairly well established that Sandino had been wounded in the bombing raid, but it is not known how seriously.

REINFORCEMENTS LEAVE FOR BATTLE ZONE

Managua, Nicaragua, January 24.—(AP)—The one thousand American marine reinforcements of the Eleventh regiment now marching into northern Nicaragua to take the field against Augustino Sandino, rebel chieftain, will replace the detachment of the Fifth regiment which have been on duty in the department of Nueva Segovia for the past six months.

In the American campaign to stamp out the Sandino movement, all important towns and villages in the affected region will be garrisoned by American marines and Nicaraguan National Guards. It is hoped that eventually all the rebels will be forced out of the district as well as scattered bands of guerrillas who have been operating independently, taking advantage of the unsettled conditions.

Seeing Threat to Aviation.

In this statement Dr. Herrera saw a threat to the future of commercial aviation. In an interview he said: "Under the proposals of the United States delegation there would be nothing to prevent any state from declaring its entire territory a prohibited area."

The amendments were referred by the communications committee of the conference to a special subsidiary committee composed of Ambassador Fletcher and Minister Herrera for further consideration.

'FLYER' AIRPLANE IS FORCED TO LAND

Gale Ends Detroit-Miami Non-Stop Test Flight in Vacant Lot at Asheville, N. C.

Asheville, N. C., January 24.—(United News.)—Rain and winds ended an attempted non-stop flight of the first Ford flyer airplane from Detroit to Miami when less than half the distance was covered today.

Harry Brooks, who piloted Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh to Mexico City Christmas, brought his two-cylinder Ford plane down on the edge of Asheville when he found it impossible to cross the Blue Ridge mountains south of here.

Brooks passed over Asheville shortly before 4 p. m. At 4:25 o'clock he was seen circling for a landing and at 4:30 he landed in a vacant lot which sometimes is used as a private landing field.

"The plane functioned perfectly," Brooks said. "Only the weather kept me from making it."

"I hooked a 20-mile wind the whole way from Detroit," Brooks added. "I could make only between 55 and 58 miles an hour, and the visibility was terrible."

"When I got to the Blue Ridge mountains and saw it was impossible to get over them on account of the fog, I thought the best thing to do was to turn back to Asheville. When I tried to climb above the clouds ice formed on the wings and propeller and when I tried to go under them the rain blinded me."

Brooks said there were still about 30 gallons of gasoline in the little plane's tanks. "The plane used only about 20 gallons coming down, in spite of the strong winds," he said.

Long Island City, N. Y., January 24.—(United News.)—Charged with running down a 3-month-old baby in its perambulator while learning to drive an automobile under instruction by her husband, Mrs. Louise Hartley, 43, was held without bail today for hearing on February 1. The technical charge was homicide.

Colombian Envoy Unexpectedly Opposes U. S. Proposals To Curtail Airplane Flights.

BRANDS MEASURE AS "TOO MILITARY"

Amendments Would Allow Any Two Nations To Fix Boundaries for Aircraft.

Havana, January 24.—(United News.)—United States proposals intended chiefly to safeguard the Panama canal defenses met unexpected opposition today at the sixth Pan-American conference.

Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera, president of the Colombian delegation, and his country's minister to Washington, said the proposals were modeled after post-war treaties when "military psychology prevailed." He feared the request that an existing commercial treaty be altered so that any two Pan-American countries, for military reasons, could prohibit flights over a given spot, might be construed as permitting military alliances between neighboring states of the Western Hemisphere.

Fletcher Offers Amendments. Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Italy and a member of the American delegation, offered seven amendments today to the Pan-American union's air convention.

The principal modification would have permitted any two or more states which signed the convention to agree for military reasons, or for the interests of public safety, on what areas should be prohibited to aircraft within their boundaries.

"The ideals of this convention," Dr. Herrera said, "are the development of peace and amity by facilitating international air traffic and by providing for the welfare of their country in a larger sense."

This latest white house gesture towards allaying suspicion of American aggressiveness comes as prologue to possible further airing of the position of the United States defenses when Congress takes up the administration's proposal for a $740,000, 600 rounding out of the navy.

ADAM DENIES HE MADE STATEMENT.

New York, January 24.—(AP)—The stenographic report of Admiral Plunkett's address at the National Republican club last Saturday in which he was reported to have predicted imminent war and which brought forth comment from President Coolidge today was made public for the first time.

On seeing newspaper accounts of his address Admiral Plunkett denied that he had predicted war and especially took exception to some papers' account as predicting war with Great Britain. The stenographic report gives the admiral's remarks in part as follows:

"I have said history correctly, and what we are doing today, we are nearer war today than we have ever been in our history because we are too damned efficient."

"Efficiency Means War."

Just preceding this remark the admiral was recorded to have told an anecdote of meeting a German biographer and telling him, "Don't worry, my friend, the penalty of efficiency is war. When a nation becomes too efficient the rest of the nations combine and pull her down."

The admiral then asserted that American business men have awakened to the fact that we must build a merchant marine and stop having our trade competitors deliver our goods for us.

"There never has been and there never will be a great nation in this world that isn't great on the sea. Just long as you make that your policy, and you follow it through, you are going to have war. I don't care whether it is with Great Britain, or some other nation, you are going to have war, and you are going to be sitting in this room with me, if you dare to contest the control of the sea with your goods, not with your guns."

"It is competition, gentlemen. It is economic in its origin and as long as we proceed along the lines we are traveling today war is absolutely inevitable."

Captain Hartley Quits Sea To Make Home in Atlanta

Leviathan Captain To Enter Business Here

After a romantic sea career of 35 years, which began with service under the flapping canvas "sheets" of a sailboat, Captain Herbert Hartley, for the past five years master of the great Leviathan, Tuesday resigned his post to become special sales representative in Atlanta of the Peppercorn company, of Boston, one of the largest sheet manufacturers in the world.

His resignation, which was accepted Tuesday by the shipping board, will take effect February 1, and Captain Hartley will open the local office of the Peppercorn company here shortly after that date, Russell H. Leonard, head of the company, said Tuesday in Boston.

Navy 'War Scare' Hit By Coolidge AS LONDON 'BOOS'

Washington, January 24.—(AP)—In the opinion of President Coolidge, no one need take seriously the sanguinary predictions of the American army and naval officers that the United States is about to go to war with its commercial rivals.

This announcement of the president's view, made at the white house today, came in reply to a statement attributed to Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, in which he warned that an outbreak of hostilities was not far distant.

Such a statement, created in European newspapers that the white house felt impelled to explain that declarations of this nature are the usual way in which officials of the naval defense attempt to work up domestic sentiment at a time when army and navy appropriation bills are about to be considered in congress.

Although willing to concede that it is the duty of defense officers to work for the best interests of the elements they serve, Coolidge is displeased with the turn their warlike statements sometimes take, but so far as he can see there is nothing to be done.

Unable to Stop Speeches.

If he should publicly point out the improbability of their statements, he feels that he would only be accused of muzzling free speech. He believes he can simply recommend to the army and navy officers that they consider the welfare of their country in a larger sense.

This latest white house gesture towards allaying suspicion of American aggressiveness comes as prologue to possible further airing of the position of the United States defenses when Congress takes up the administration's proposal for a $740,000, 600 rounding out of the navy.

FRAZIER SEEKS LIST OF INVESTORS IN UTILITY STOCKS

Washington, January 24.—(United News.)—Senator Lynn Frazier, North Dakota, today introduced legislation to require utility companies to file with the Federal Reserve board a list of all investors in their stocks.

He also wants to know if possession of stocks influences voting and decisions on public matters. To this end he has introduced a resolution in the senate today calling upon all members of congress and all government officials with salaries over $3,000 a year, to file public statements with the federal trade commission, giving the amount of utilities companies for which officials have worked during the preceding two years.

Georgia Church Records Play Role in Estate Fight

AGED DOCUMENTS FOUND IN CARROLL COUNTY

Somerville, N. J., January 24.—(AP) In an atmosphere of the days before the civil war, when Baptist circuit riders visited their congregations in the Carolina pine country, the claims of approximately 100 persons declaring themselves relatives of the late James B. Duke, multimillionaire tobacco dealer, to shares in a fund of $2,000,000 today were aired in open court.

With his feet on the rail of the witness stand, John Eady, former clerk of the Hopewell Primitive Baptist church of Carroll county, Georgia, drew into court records the story of the ordination of the Rev. Thomas Duke, uncle of James B., in 1845. The minutes of those proceedings, yellowed and musty with age, were then introduced as evidence, to augment five ancient family Bibles, which purport to contain the records of some of the 100 claimants whose petitions to part of the $2,000,000 were disallowed by the executors of the will.

Counsel for the executors allege the entries in the Bible were falsified. Charges that representatives of the executors went to Texas and "tricked" aged witnesses into making false affidavits were made by Judge Basil D. Sarlin, of Texas, attorney for Miss Elizabeth Duke, telephone operator, of Wichita, Texas.

Miss Duke has acted as representative of the other claimants from Texas, many of whom are in the winter of their years. Only two are less than 58 years of age, and the New Jersey climate, mild as it has been this winter, has treated the old folk harshly.

One is bedridden and at today's session of court "Aunt Sally" Turner, of Gilmore, was carried in to testify. She told Judge French she recollects trips her grandfather, the Rev. Thomas Duke, made to the home of his brother, Washington Duke, in Orange county, North Carolina.

Nissenbaum's Pal Is Aided By Newsboys

$500 Fund Pays $350 Fine for LeBawe; Nissenbaum Given 4 to 6 Years.

Newsboys with whom he had sold papers on the streets of Pittsburgh furnished the means by which Max LeBawe, jointly indicted with Abe Nissenbaum on charges of possessing fraudulent bills of exchange, was released Tuesday afternoon following his guilty plea before Judge E. D. Thomas of Fulton superior court, while a single count of the indictment was returned against Nissenbaum.

LeBawe was fined $350, which he paid from a $500 fund his former business partner, Nissenbaum, had raised, and enough remained to buy a ticket back to Pittsburgh. LeBawe fled the court.

Judge Thomas refused to accept a "guilty with intent to defraud" verdict brought in by the jury on the Nissenbaum case, whereupon the jury went back for a second deliberation and returned with the finding of "guilty as charged," fixing his punishment at from four to six years.

The Nissenbaum case, hinged on a single count of the indictment, of defrauding the public by the sale of counterfeit bills of exchange, but only a printed form, and a possession of which was no violation of the law.

Nissenbaum testified that LeBawe was a protégé of his, who was in possession of a counterfeit bill attached to possession of the checks in that he was wearing a suit which Nissenbaum had lent him at the time the pair were arrested.

At the time of the arrest Nissenbaum was at liberty under a $2,500 bond in connection with the slaying of Bert Donaldson, criminal investigator attached to Collector General John A. Boykin's office, and the bond was raised to $10,000 on the fraudulent check charge.

2 OIL MAGNATES GAVE EX-CABINET MEMBER $394,000

Testimony Twice Withheld From Federal Courts Is Given Freely Before Senate Laws Committee.

PROBERS NOW HUNT REST OF $3,000,000

Washington, January 24.—(AP) Harry F. Sinclair was named today before the senate lands committee as the source of the $230,500 in Liberty bonds received by Albert B. Fall, after he had leased the Teapot Dome naval reserve to the wealthy New York oil operator in April, 1922.

This testimony, twice withheld from the federal courts, was given freely by the man who handled the bonds, M. T. Everhart, of Pueblo, Colo., son-in-law of the former interior secretary.

He declared that besides this sum, for which Sinclair was to get an interest in Fall's New Mexico ranch, Fall received $250,000 in Liberty bonds and $300,000 in cash as unsecured "loans" from Sinclair. The witness said he did not know whether these were repaid.

Received Additional $25,000. As its original inquiry four years ago, which was revived today, the committee received testimony that Sinclair also advanced $25,000 in Liberty bonds to Fall after the latter had retired from the cabinet and before he made a trip to Russia as the oil operator's representative in negotiations with the Soviet government.

Thus the record now stands that the former interior secretary received a sum total of $230,500 from Sinclair and $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny after the lease of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills, California, naval oil lands, which since have been recovered by the government.

Testimony at the Fall-Sinclair criminal conspiracy trial here which was halted abruptly last November after Burns' detectives shadowed the jury, was that the $230,500 in bonds which Everhart said Sinclair personally paid over to him, were part of a block of such securities which the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., a now extinct Canadian corporation, bought in New York out of its profits on the purchase and resale of oil in this country.

Trace Remainder of Fund. The committee will set out now to ascertain if it can what became of the remainder of the $3,000,000 in bonds which the Continental company is alleged to have made by buying oil from the late A. E. Humphreys, of Denver, and reselling it to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

ALDERMAN PLEADS FOR LIFE AT TRIAL

Miami, Fla., January 24.—(AP) Using only one witness, the defendant himself, the defense in the Alderman murder case in federal court here rested with dramatic suddenness this afternoon after Horace Alderman told a story of abuse, invasion of private rights, threats and what he construed as a move to take his life as justification for killing Sidney Sanderlin and Victor A. Lamb, coast guardsmen.

The government will demand that the jury find Alderman guilty of first degree murder, punishable by hanging, or acquit him, the alternative depending on whether the jury believes the defendant or the eye-witnesses who testified for the prosecution. Alderman is charged with killing the coast guardsmen aboard a patrol boat off Miami August 7, after he and a companion, Robert Weech, had been arrested as rum-runners, with a cargo of liquor from the Bahamas.

Contradictory Prosecution. Alderman contradicted fairly every major allegation of prosecution witnesses. The government theory is that Sanderlin was killed by a bullet in his back, fired through the pilot house door from the deck outside, and that Lamb was mortally wounded an instant later by a bullet fired at him without warning as he started through the hatch into the engine room.

Alderman's story was that both men were in the pilot house, he along with them, and that he seized a pistol off a desk after Lamb had made a similar move, following threats from both men to kill him. Sanderlin was shot an instant later, Alderman testified, as he also sought to secure a weapon.

Fatal Fall of Aviator Near Macon Accidental, Coroner's Jury Decides

Macon, Ga., January 24.—(AP)—A verdict that S. Grantland Irwin, 27, aviator of Birmingham, came to his death Monday afternoon "by accidentally falling from a moving airplane about 800 or 1,000 feet high while evidently attempting to get from the cockpit to do some stunts," was returned by a coroner's jury which was called this morning to fix the blame for the tragic death of the aviator who fell from a plane at Terra Cotta, Ga., near Macon, on the Antioch road, which was piloted by Jack Ashcraft, veteran aviator and instructor at the recently opened Macon flying school.

Coroner Lee Wages called the jury, which was composed of T. B. Kage, foreman; M. J. Neel, former judge; L. McMillen, William Frank, W. P. Weisiger and D. A. Russell, Jr., secretary. The witnesses who were called upon to testify were Pilot Ashcraft, Bert Crader, a partner in the flying school, and J. C. Stubbs, an engineer on the Southern railway, who testified that he, with his fireman, saw their locomotive, witnessed the plunge of Irwin at a distance he believed was about a half mile. The verdict which was returned by the jury and which completely exonerates Pilot Ashcraft or any of his companions from blame for the tragic death of Aviator Irwin is as follows: "We, the jurors, find that S. Grantland Irwin came to his death by accidentally falling from a moving airplane about 800 or 1,000 feet high while evidently attempting to get from the cockpit to do some stunts, crushing his skull in several places when he struck the ground and otherwise mangled his body."

There was no evidence presented at the inquest which tended to show that Irwin contemplated suicide, the pilot himself declaring that he did not believe Irwin had intended to take his own life and that he had not noticed any dependency on his part around the hotel. The statement of the coroner's jury was made after a Tuesday morning from his home.

The Mid-West Refining company and the Prairie Oil and Gas company. As the first step in that direction it called A. C. Downing, secretary of the New York Trust company, who produced the records of that bank, showing transactions in Liberty bonds totaling more than $1,000,000 by Henry M. Blackmer, former chairman of the board of the Mid-West, who now is in France and has refused to return here to testify in the Fall-Sinclair case.

The testimony in the District of Columbia supreme court here is that Blackmer, James E. O'Neil, former president of the Prairie company; Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil of Indiana, and Sinclair, confessed to the existence of the Continental contract with Humphreys.

May Summon Politicians. The committee wants to know who got the remainder of the company's profits and what disposition was made of them. In that connection it is hinted that several former directors of political campaigns will be called upon to say whether any of the alleged slush fund went to pay off campaign deficits.

Sinclair, in Washington on account of his hearing in the local courts on a contempt charge growing out of his joint trial with Fall on a criminal conspiracy charge, refused tonight to make any comment on Everhart's testimony. He is under summons to go before the committee and may appear tomorrow or Thursday.

Until today Everhart had consistently refused to tell what he knew about any transactions between Fall and Sinclair on the ground of self-incrimination. That tactic was removed by a special act of congress and after he had made it clear to the committee that he was testifying under compulsion and not voluntarily, he told the details volubly, apparently happy that at last he could tell his story without fear of criminal prosecution.

FALL PLEADED WITH KING'S TESTIMONY. El Paso, Texas, January 24.—(AP) Declaring the transaction was part of a plan by Harry F. Sinclair to purchase a big ranch in the southwest, Albert B. Fall tonight characterized as "open and above board" the deal by which M. T. Everhart testified in Washington today the former interior secretary received $233,000 in Liberty Bonds and $26,000 in cash from Sinclair.

Fall commented freely to the El Paso Times tonight on the story told by the senate law committee in Washington today he Everhart, who is his son-in-law. There was nothing to conceal about the transaction, the former secretary said. As for the Continental Trading company, Ltd., of Canada, Fall said he knew nothing of it, and never had any dealing directly or indirectly with it.

"The government counsel know that I never had anything to do with the Canadian company," Fall said emphatically. "They are just trying to bring this before a jury with an air of mystery in order to create a prejudice against me, and get me in the penitentiary. They will never succeed."

GOVERNMENT SCORES IN TAMPERING TRIAL. Washington, January 24.—(AP)—Testimony in support of the government's charge that officials of the Burns Detective agency ordered operatives to prepare false reports regarding jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial was introduced today at the criminal contempt proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and their four associates.

William J. McMullin, who worked as a Burns agent under the name of William V. Long, testified he was one of the detectives who shadowed the oil jury in the employment of Sinclair. He swore that Charles G. Ruddle, Burns' Philadelphia manager, in charge of the jury surveillance squad, instructed him to prepare false reports. Donk R. King, a reporter, also was on the stand again, repeating his charge that Juror Edward J. Kidwell had said he expected to profit from his jury service, precipitating another bitter conflict between the opposing attorneys.

Ruddle, McMullin declared, gave him the number of the automobile driven by a government employee and instructed him to prepare a report that Juror Norman J. Glascock and the government agent conspired together at the postoffice. Ruddle also told him the next day, McMullin said, to report that the juror had read newspapers in defiance of the court's orders.

ALABAMA SENATOR DENIES CHALLENGE

Washington, January 24.—(United Press.)—Senator Heflin, of Alabama, said in the senate today that some newspapers are deliberately misquoting his anti-Catholic speeches. He threatened that action would be taken against newspaper correspondents unless the alleged misrepresentations stop.

Heflin read an article in The Washington News, and then declared: "This is part of the propaganda of the Roman Catholic political machine. The Washington News said I challenged the democrats to rebuke me and said I would quit the party if they did and that millions would quit with me."

Demies Making Challenge. "This is not true. I challenged the New York World to have such action taken because it said in an editorial that it was not satisfied with what the democratic caucus did after my controversy with Senator Robinson. 'I'm not asking any senator to pass on the question of whether I am right or wrong,' the democrats said. 'I am not asking any senator to express his views. Therefore, it is for me to decide what is right and what is wrong.'"

Heflin said he had been misrepresented also by The Washington Herald.

Heflin Another Threat. "I came to the senate and looked at the official record and found that I had been misquoted," he said. "Not only that, but the democrats, when they want to be outright about me, 'I want to warn Heflin that if this continues I'll read some affidavits on the floor of the senate that will open the public eye and result in getting rid of some of these hickory nuts.'"

POLICE REQUESTED TO FIND LOST YOUTH. Police were requested Tuesday to find Jack Harris, 12, of 1382 Allene avenue, who is said to have left home the Tuesday after Christmas. Jack has not been seen since and his mother appealed to Chief of Police J. L. Boyers to help her find the lad. Jack is blond, has blue eyes, is slender, and weighs 90 pounds.

Mr. Tift said interest of the exchange centers in the approaching meeting of the New York Cotton Exchange on February 6, when the matter of southern delivery points for cotton will be considered. A Georgia point will not be considered because of the Georgia law on cotton futures. Efforts have been made to have the laws modified, but have met with defeat at two sessions of the legislature. It was said Tuesday that South Carolina's legislature now has before it a measure which, if passed, will strengthen that state's chances for obtaining a delivery point.

While expectant of success, the magnificent reaction of the public and the consequent good feeling among all exhibitors have far surpassed their brightest hopes.

The daily concerts from 2:30 to 4:30 and the nightly stage revue, presenting the Emory university quartette; Otto Strid, accordionist; Janet Kelly and Patricia Saunders, charming dancers, and the Southeastern Auto Show orchestra are winning praise on all sides and will be continued throughout the week.

Concerts Please. The corps of well-known young Atlanta women who are now in the lap of their ticket selling contest, have shattered all records for success and have elicited emphatic praise from executives of the show. Through the enterprise of these contestants, thousands of tickets were sold before the doors of the auditorium opened, and their efforts are continuing to insure the presence of additional thousands before the week is over.

The standing of the contestants, by the way, is remarkably close after the first two "turn-ins" this week. Competition is running higher than ever and the supporters of the various contestants are redoubting their efforts. The young women will divide prizes totaling $500 in addition to a percentage on all ticket sales.

The approach of at least a temporary impasse in the reorganization of the Pan-American union was seen by delegates in the announcement. The Argentine ambassador's declaration followed a long speech yesterday in which he assailed high tariffs and the principle of assessing these on the difference of cost of production at home and abroad.

ALLIGATOR TARGET OF LINDY'S SHOTS

Colon, Panama, January 24.—(AP)—The canal zone tonight again is host to three world-famous aviators—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Dieudonne Costes and Joseph LeBrix.

"While the American air hero was off on a new adventure—alligator hunting after his undersea trip in a submarine yesterday, Costes and LeBrix arrived here from Barranquilla, Colombia. They made the more than 400-mile trip in slightly more than four hours, encountering cloudy weather and contrary winds.

Goals Alligator Hunting. Although Colonel Lindbergh had expected to be at the field to welcome the French fliers, he had not returned from his alligator shooting trip when they arrived. The colonel, with three army aviator comrades, went off early this morning in a launch to the old French canal where alligators are found.

The American flier planned a further rest before his resumption of his good will tour Friday, being scheduled to go to Perlas Islands for some deep sea fishing and then back to the islands where is a famous pearl fishing industry. He had lunch today at Coco Lolo as guest of the naval base there.

JADWIN PROMISES AID IN FLOOD QUIZ

Washington, January 24.—(P)—An intimation that he was prepared to furnish President Coolidge with data concerning the lowering of the 20 per cent contribution by the Mississippi valley states provided in the administration's $206,000,000 flood control program was made today by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers.

General Jadwin appeared for the second day before the house group to explain his plan which was recommended to congress by President Coolidge. Around the 20 per cent contribution has arisen considerable opposition in congress, especially among the democratic senators and representatives, who contend the federal government should bear the entire expense. The president later was represented as considering a smaller contribution by the valley states.

Offers to Supply Data.
Declaring that the matter must be determined by the president and congress, the general said: "If the 20 per cent is not believed to be the right percentage I have in my office data bearing on the benefits from the plan accruing to the various states in case you wish to modify the percentage." General Jadwin asserted that his $206,000,000 project afforded better protection than the $775,000,000 plan recommended by the Mississippi river commission, "which is manifestly a waste of government funds." He said that even though his plan should be rejected by congress "the army engineers will carry out loyally whatever program the national legislature desires."

Additional Month To Buy Licenses Is Given Autoists

Extension of the time limit, in which automobile owners may purchase 1928 license tags without the payment of penalties, from February 1, 1928, to March 1, 1928, was announced Tuesday by Secretary of State S. G. McLendon, under whose direction the state motor vehicle department is operated. The statement was given out for publication by Arthur T. Harris, chief clerk.

Secretary McLendon said he extended the time one month in accordance with a recent ruling of the attorney general who held that the authority to extend the time limit rested with the secretary of state.

The statement of Secretary McLendon is as follows:
"In view of a recent ruling of the attorney general of Georgia holding that the secretary of state has authority to extend the time in which automobile owners may purchase license tags for 1928 without the imposition of penalties, I have decided to follow this ruling by extending this time from February 1, 1928, until March 1, 1928."

"In taking this action I feel that at least 75 per cent of the automobile owners have refrained from purchasing tags due to the confusion caused by the statement in their 1927 license receipts to the effect that these licenses are good until March 1, 1928."

"Since the automobile owners have held back in making purchases in such large numbers it is certain that the office machinery would be overwhelmed in the next few days if all the owners should come to this office to purchase their tags. In fact it is doubtful if the remaining licenses could be distributed within three or four more weeks."

New Motor Bus Replaces Steam On Georgia Line

Replacing a steam service of 52 years duration between Fort Valley and Perry, Ga., the Central Georgia Railway company has installed a new type of motor bus declared to be probably unique in the realm of rail equipment.

The vehicle is said by road officials to be a standard 25-passenger bus, but so fitted up in the body as to provide for carrying express, baggage and mail in a locked compartment.

It is said to be probably the first bus ever built to replace steam service which not only provides adequate comfort for passengers, but also affords such security for mail and express service that the inspecting officers of both services have given it the stamp of their approval.

After considering the idea of the new type of vehicle, the railway organized the Central Georgia Motor Transport company to handle its business of this type, officials of the road declared.

The officials expressed the belief that this type of equipment will replace many of the short-line steam operations, since it will permit the railroad not only to meet the obligations of its franchise, but also to provide rapid, convenient, modern transportation which will be profitable in operation.

J. H. ALEXANDER HEADS MUSE FIRM

J. Harry Alexander, well-known Atlanta business man and formerly vice president of George Muse company, was elected president at the annual stockholders meeting Tuesday night.

He succeeded the late W. W. Orr. Other officers are Howard Muse, vice president; William F. Greene, secretary; John J. Vogel, treasurer; Frank L. Stanton, Jr., assistant treasurer; Oby T. Brewer, secretary, and the following directors: Mr. Alexander, Mr. Muse, Mr. Greene, Mr. Vogel, Mr. Stanton, E. E. McCrary and Paul W. Miller.

The new president has been connected with the George Muse company for 36 years. Mr. Alexander started in the organization as bookkeeper, then became credit manager, secretary and treasurer and then vice president and treasurer. In most part the other officers have risen from the ranks of the organization, which they have served for many years.

Howard Muse is the son of the founder, George Muse. Mr. Greene has been with the organization 25 years, starting in the delivery department and passing through the positions of bookkeeper, office manager and secretary. Mr. Stanton, in addition to his new office, is advertising manager, and has been with the firm for seven years. Mr. Brewer began his career with the Muse concern 20 years ago as a stock boy, later becoming building manager.

According to reports at the annual stockholders meeting, the firm which was established 49 years ago, enjoyed the best year of its history last year and the biggest year in point of volume of business. So far this year indications are that 1928 will surpass even the record year of 1927, it was stated.

Salvation Army Plans to Extend Scope of Work

Extension of the scope of work and facilities of the Salvation Army through the southern headquarters here within the next two years was announced Tuesday morning following an officers' council business session at the army temple, 54 Ellis street.

A movement is now on foot among the local Salvation Army officials for establishment in Atlanta at a cost of approximately $250,000 of a woman's institution, to serve the entire state. This institution would provide for the care and instruction of girls and women who "need a new start in life," Salvationists declare.

When Commissioner W. A. McIntyre came to Atlanta to take charge of the southern territory about a year ago, there was only one corps in operation in Atlanta, whereas there are now four. There is work here for at least ten more, officials believe.

Plans discussed included details for purchase and erection of a building similar to the hall which was dedicated in "Pulton Village" last Saturday for each corps. This building was completed in 14 days at an expenditure of $6,500. It has a meeting hall with a seating capacity of 200, several smaller rooms to be used for recreational purposes and meeting rooms model to all southern cities in the for young people's organizations.

It was planned to make Atlanta a center of musical work. Atlanta is now the home of the territorial band, which visiting officials declare to be second only to the New York headquarters band. At the close of the year, it is contemplated to have at least three bands.

BUREAU FINDS PLACES FOR 5,576 WORKERS

With a total of 15,403 registrations in the community employment service, 5,576 persons were placed in positions by the service during 1927, according to figures just released by Roy LeCraw, president of the employment service.

The report shows that Atlanta has been free of an unemployment problem and that all efficient workers have been placed quickly.

COSGRAVE FETED AT U. S. CAPITAL

Washington, January 24.—(P)—A busy round of social activities, including luncheon at the white house as the guest of President Coolidge, filled the second day of the stay here of President William T. Cosgrave, of the Irish free state executive council.

While many of those who entertained him until well after last midnight were still sleeping, the slight, mild-mannered Irish executive was up almost with the sun, and in the saddle. A canter through the capital's Rock Creek park followed, in the course of which he encountered and joined forces with Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, himself a devoted equestrian.

After a short rest and breakfast at his hotel, Mr. Cosgrave, accompanied by Minister Smiddy and an official party, motored to Arlington and placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. He returned to Washington for luncheon with Mr. Coolidge.

POLICY ON POLITICS IS VOTED BY A. F. L.

Miami, Fla., January 24.—(P)—Under plans worked out this afternoon the American Federation of Labor will vote a powerful factor in the coming general election, President Green declared after today's sessions of the federation's executive council.

"I can safely say that the federation will exercise as great or greater influence in the coming national political campaign as at any time hereafter, not excepting the 1916 campaign," Green said. "We will, of course, pursue our usual non-partisan policy."

In many quarters the federation has been credited with holding the balance of power in the 1916 election.

Council Near Adjournment.

Adjournment of the present session of the council will be taken some time tomorrow, Mr. Green said, and further details of the drive in the national political conventions will be worked out at a council meeting in Washington beginning April 24.

In the meantime a committee composed of President Green, Secretary Frank Morrison, James A. O'Connell, and others, will work on the program of legislation to be presented to the two major political parties in convention.

Profiting by past experience, Green said, work will be limited almost exclusively to the two major parties.

Concerning This Man Sandino As Related by His Brother

Below is the third of a series of articles dealing with the life of Augusto Cesar Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel leader, written by his brother, Socrates Sandino, now living in New York.

BY SOCRATES SANDINO.

Written exclusively for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.

General Jose Maria Moncada, in charge of military operations, opposed my brother, Augusto, from the beginning. Moncada has always looked with coldness upon any man who could do something he is unable to do. Moncada is unpopular. He is always changing parties. First he was a conservative, then a liberal, then again a conservative.

In spite of Moncada's opposition, Dr. Sacaia wanted to do something for my brother, "the youngest who had walked through 700 miles of jungle," as described in my preceding article. He arranged for 50,000 rounds of ammunition. My brother then gathered together his nine men and they started out once more. They traversed the unknown regions, suffering hunger and other privations.

Finally they arrived in Chipote, a sort of Gibraltar of Nueva Segovia. From there he sallied out, taking Somo, the capital of Nueva Segovia, a city of 6,000. A few months after he had arrived from Puerto Cabezas, he had full control of Nueva Segovia. Then he proceeded in a campaign against Esteli, the capital of which has 7,000 people, and against Jinotega, a city of 6,000, and capital of the department of the same name.

The ten original men, including my brother, had now become a well-equipped army of 800 men. My brother was training them in his own way. Augusto never read military books, or studied in military schools. He is a leader of men, however.

Augusto is a very religious man. He has never touched a drink. He does not smoke, and he punishes severely those who disobey his order not to drink.

My brother has ordered that the land is to be tilled, and he has forbidden the unwearied sowing of poppies, and very few planters have lost anything through Augusto's occupation of Nueva Segovia.

When Augusto had built up his 800 men, he sent a message to General Moncada, who was then in great need of reinforcements. Moncada had been surrounded by a superior number of government troops. For three days the conservative forces of Adolfo Diaz had been attacking Moncada's army. Moncada had lost all hope. Through the aid of my brother, Moncada was saved.

My brother summoned his best men and his best horses and descended swiftly from the mountains. The Diaz troops were surprised. They were in Nueva Segovia, but when Diaz troops were getting ready for the final drive my brother fell upon them, creating a panic.

The Diaz men never suspected the attackers were only my brother and a few followers, tired after riding through the mountains for three nights, without stopping to eat or sleep. And the enemy fled.

TARIFF HIKE URGED IN FARM AID ACT

Washington, January 24.—(P)—Although the attention of the house agriculture committee was diverted from farm relief legislation today by other proposals requiring its attention that long standing problem echoed through capitol halls as usual.

Representative Fish, republican of New York, joined in the demand for a higher tariff on agricultural products and Representative Lankford, democrat, Georgia, introduced another bill designed to alleviate depressed conditions. Overshadowing these moves, however, was an announcement by Representative Ketchum, republican, Michigan, that he would work on a bill to conform with the ideas of the national Grange for an export rebate plan for farm relief.

The Michigan member, who is on the agriculture committee, said he aimed to introduce a measure which will be constitutional, economic and practicable.

One export rebate plan already has been proposed by Representative Jones, democrat, Texas. The step by a republican on the agriculture committee, expected to enter debate tonight, however, in view of the announcement by national Grange officials that it is a direct result of antagonism against the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill which recently has cropped out in the house farm bloc.

The Fish bill calls for increased levies on imported dairy products. Similar bills, proposing higher tariff rates for farm products, have been introduced by several republicans and democrats, despite the opposition of administration leaders to tariff revision at this time.

The new Lankford bill would create a federal farm board of five members with power to make loans to farmers. It would apply as the outset only to basic commodities which were named as cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, hogs and cattle.

HOUSE VOTES FUND TO AID U. S. MARINE

Washington, January 24.—(P)—While the house today was passing a bill which provided, among other things, more than $13,000,000 for the reconstruction of government merchant ships, the senate began consideration of the Jones bill to enlarge the merchant fleet and maintain it under government operation.

The senate bill, sponsored by Chairman Jones of the commerce committee, is contrary to the announced policy of President Coolidge to transfer the fleet to private hands. In calling it up, Senator Jones had the support of democrats and a number of republicans who favor government control. The bill passed by the house carried $13,400,000 for ship reconstruction and the shipping board.

Of the total, the house by a vote of 205 to 117, overrode its appropriation committee's recommendation that $1,000,000 should be used for reconditioning 10 ships to be used for exporting coal and $400,000 for the maintenance of the fleet. The other $12,400,000 would be used to refit the liners Mount Vernon and Monticello for the north Atlantic service.

The motion to provide funds for work on the two government liners was offered by Representative McDuffie, democrat, Alabama, after republican leaders had knocked an almost similar provision out of the bill earlier in the day on a point of order. The amendment designed to promote export of coal was sponsored by Kentucky republicans in the senate.

Administration senators voiced some opposition to Senator Jones in the course of a three-hour speech on his measure, but he replied again and again: "It is government operation or nothing." He further warned that it was imperative that congress act at this session "or there won't be any commerce for the proposed enlarged navy to protect."

Replacement Program.

The bill would authorize expenditures for a 15-year replacement program and Senator Jones read a report from the shipping board calling for a program involving a total expenditure of $250,000,000 over that period. The measure also would require unanimous consent of the shipping board for the sale of any ships.

TOBACCO THIEVES LOOT TWO STORES; 2 WATCHES STOLEN

A fondness for the nicotine weed was displayed by burglars who entered two stores Tuesday, according to reports to police. The Rogers store, at 241 Edgewood avenue, was robbed of $10 worth of cigarettes and tobacco, while the store of Joe Maloof, at 39 Hunter street, S. E., was robbed of a quantity of cigarettes and tobacco.

Two persons reported the loss of watches. These were Miss Finnis Hutchison, of 29 Chestnut street, who lost a white gold Swiss watch, and V. E. Echols, of 918 McMillan, who lost a 21-jewel Hamilton watch and a gold chain.

The meeting was presided over by Robert L. Foreman, president.

BECK LEGAL ABODE AGAIN UNDER FIRE

Washington, January 24.—(P)—The actual time spent in Philadelphia during the last two years by Representative James M. Beck, a republican, was inquired into today by a house elections committee considering his right to represent a Pennsylvania district in the house.

Representative Kent, democrat, Pennsylvania, who is prosecuting the democratic move to unseat the former solicitor general of the United States on the ground that he was not a legal resident of Pennsylvania at the time of his election last November, questioned a number of witnesses.

At the close of the session Kent indicated that he would conclude tomorrow and it is expected that within the immediate future the committee will close its inquiry and take up the case in executive session.

Much time was saved today with Beck, through his counsel, admitting that he had registered at Philadelphia hotels as of Washington, D. C., since Joseph Gantt, a negro janitor at 1414 Spruce street, testified that he had seen Beck enter or leave the apartment building at least 15 or 20 times, but added that tenants could enter and leave frequently without him seeing them. Some, he said, he did not see once in several months.

Gave Name to Assessor.

Gantt also testified he had given Beck's name to the city assessor twice in 1927 as he did other tenants. At the close of today's session Kent announced that he would seek to prove that Beck had not occupied the Philadelphia apartment until September, 1927. If this could be proved, it is contended, Beck would not be eligible for the seat under the Pennsylvania election laws.

Kent added that as yet he had been unable to obtain the name of the person who, he had been told, could give such testimony.

PROPOSAL TO LEASE SHOALS FORCES RECESS IN HEARING

Washington, January 24.—(P)—Introduction in the senate today of a bill proposing to lease Muskegon Shoals to American Cyanamid company forced a postponement in hearings called by the senate agriculture committee on proposals for disposition of the famous wartime property.

Objecting to further consideration of this measure, advanced by Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, with the support of the American farm bureau federation, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, asked for a vote on his resolution proposing government operation. The Willis bill was introduced in the house by Representative Madden, republican, Illinois.

A quorum could not be mustered by the committee and Chairman McNary recessed the hearings until Thursday or Friday when the Nebraska senator will renew his demand for immediate action on his resolution.

Bogus 'Dook' Bewails Fate Jailed, Unable to Wed Heiress

New York, January 24.—(United News).—The injustice of it all weighed heavily today on Robert Whitman, alias "Lord Beaverbrook."

Most men would have been pleased if up for grand larceny, first degree, and the judge had declared a mistrial before a word of evidence was heard. But "Lord Beaverbrook" staring coolly over the indignant heads of some of the 50 women he is accused of having charmed and robbed, was too busy scoring man-made justice to pay any attention.

There was Mrs. Rose Durkin, who alleged specifically that "Lord Beaverbrook," otherwise Robert Whitman, Carl Renee, etc., went south with $75,000 of her jewelry.

She stared at his lordship's handsome head of flowing brown hair, his cleft chin, his somewhat predatory look, proud blue eyes and his strong white teeth.

"Lord Beaverbrook's" indignation was not based upon the fact that Tombs prison is an old prison with primitive sanitary arrangements. It was just general injustice that had got his lordship down.

If I could use the lamp from Diogenes," the baron confided to the press, "I could put 50 or 50 per cent of every man in New York in jail. 'What do thousands of men do?' his lordship continued. 'They get married. They get money and luxuries. You say, 'great, he married an heiress, lucky dog.' But I, just because I am convicted once, and for life, cannot marry an heiress without being slapped in jail. Is that right, gentlemen?'

"Shut up, Dook," interrupted a hairy back, proud blue eyes and his strong white teeth.

"Indeed it is not," the self-made nobleman came right back. "You would hardly be present, my man, if it were."

"But because I marry a woman," he continued, "and leave her for reasons which I will tell from the witness stand, the district attorney says I have married 116 women. Is that justice?'

"Lord Beaverbrook" may find out Wednesday, when Judge Allen indicated a new jury would be chosen to replace the one to which Assistant District Attorney Albert Unger inadvertently mentioned that the defendant had a "record."

Unger told how Whitman, in the role of Prince Charming, first met Mrs. Durkin when she alighted from a bus on Broadway in April, 1925. "My word, it's Nora," Unger said he exclaimed.

When the flustered Mrs. Durkin protested that her name was not Nora, the genial baron told her that he had mistaken her for Nora Bayes, the actress, and that the resemblance was staggering.

It's no insult to tell a woman she looks like Nora Bayes and the upshot of it was she and the astigmatic monocular wielder had luncheon together. Mrs. Durkin, into whose life romance had come, rapidly learned that the gallant baron was a famous specialist in insurance and a "relative" of Marshall Field, of Chicago.

On May 12, Unger said, Whitman and Mrs. Durkin's jewelry vanished simultaneously. Mrs. Durkin could have won $1 in any "embarrassing moments" contest a few days later when she recognized "Beaverbrook's" inspiring figure in the rogue's gallery.

They found him in Philadelphia, emerging triumphant from charges of a similar swindle and since then he has been in the Tombs, happily writing his memoirs for the Sunday supplement.

'CRANK' SPEEDS UP HUNT FOR HEIRESS

Northampton, January 24.—(P)—A report that a $4,000 ransom demand had been made on the parents of Francis St. John Smith, missing Smith college student, was denied today by State Detective Joseph V. Daley, who has been directing the 11-day search for the girl.

The detective said, however, that St. John Smith, father of the girl, received a "crank" letter from Detroit which stated that she was in that city. Daley said the investigators were convinced immediately that the letter was the work of a "crank," but asked Detroit police to investigate, because the writer has signed his name as "Mitchell R. Spring" and gave his address.

Ransom Not Mentioned.

The Detroit police, Daley was informed today, found no person by that name at the given address.

Daley said that no ransom was mentioned in the letter, which was similar to scores which St. John Smith has received since he arrived here to assist in the search for his daughter.

During the day another clue which seemed to point to a former Cornell university athlete, was eliminated by the investigators. The athlete, twice an inmate of insane asylums, was for some time a member of the Cornell college football team, who had often lunched at the inn.

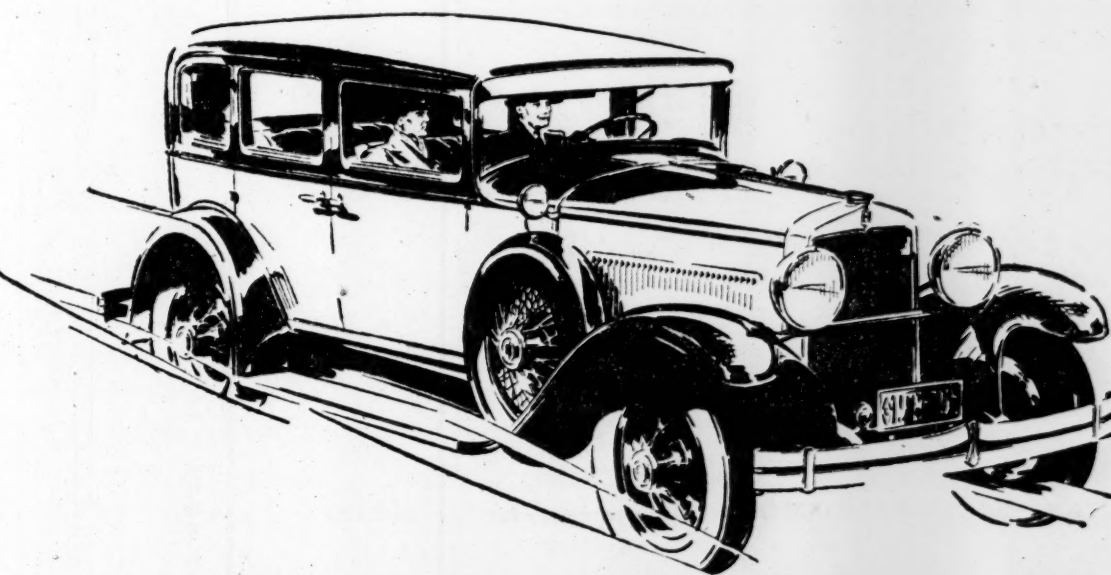

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again. Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium carbonate. It is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent, lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. (Adv.)

The SIX of the Century - leading all the sixes in distinction and value

Far faster than Hupmobile can build them, the motoring public is demanding record quotas of the Hupmobile Six of the Century. One reason overshadows others in this country-wide acceptance of the car—the fact that a new and original style has appeared among sixes and that this more striking beauty is sponsored by a maker of Hupmobile's reputation. It is worthy of note that the Six of the Century is drawing buyers from every field—from those who planned to spend several hundred dollars less to those accustomed to paying $1,000 more for distinctive appearance and performance.

AL SMITH LAUDED BY MORGENTHAU

New York, January 24.—Because the qualifications and political record of Governor Alfred E. Smith, storm center of religious controversy as the outstanding democratic candidate for presidential nomination, are such that "nobody would doubt for an instant that he would be the next president," had he, instead of being born in Oliver street, of Catholic parents, first seen the light of day in some Protestant parsonage, as President Cleveland and Wilson did, New York's popular governor is favored for the nomination and election by Henry Morgenthau, according to an article appearing in the February Review of Reviews out tomorrow.

Mr. Morgenthau, who is neither a Catholic, nor a Jew, nor a member of the Tammy organization, and who has been chairman of the democratic party's finance committee in two national campaigns and has held high office by presidential appointment, outlines the basis for his choice of Al Smith in an article in the Review, entitled "Why I Support Alfred E. Smith."

Plunging at once into the problem that surrounds the prospective candidate's religious tenets and which has stirred the nation on the fundamental doctrine of religious tolerance, the contributor to the Review of Reviews challenges "anybody to find any evidence in Governor Smith's career that his membership in the Catholic church has influenced his appointments, or his recommendations of legislation, or his vetoes, or his exercise of pardoning power, or any other of the commonwealth of New York."

Convinced of Sincerity.

"When I read Governor Smith's declaration of what his religion means to him, and his assertion that 'I recognize no power in the institutions of my church to interfere with the operations of the constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of the land,' and when he adds, 'I believe that no tribunal of any church has any power to make any decree of any force in the law of the land,' he leaves me no alternative but to accept what he says as being exactly what he believes," Mr. Morgenthau states in his article, adding that, although Governor Smith has been a conspicuous figure in public office most of his adult life, subject to the severest scrutiny of political enemies, yet no man has ever ventured publicly to charge him with being dishonest or untruthful.

"His active genius for practical affairs is, in my opinion, the strongest reason for elevating Governor Smith to the presidency. If this democracy is to continue a government of, by and for the people, it can do so only by seizing each natural interpreter of the common people to lead its political life. If such men cannot be lifted up to the chief place in the direction of our national policies, then democracy becomes a sham and government is no longer a device for registering the deep aspirations of the people. Instead, it merely camouflages the control of an aristocracy or a plutocracy," Mr. Morgenthau declares in striking the keynote of the situation.

Government and Business.

To quote further from the article in the Review of Reviews: "The subtle relationship that exists between business success and government favor has recently been dramatized by the Doheny and Sinclair trials. The real danger comes when the desire for private gain shall conflict with the best interests of all the people, and it shall be found that private rapacity is organized and entrenched with the favor of government—even in the control of government—while the common people stand outside, disorganized and helpless."

"In such a crisis, the hope of the people is in their control of the presidency through the person of one of themselves—a Jackson or a Lincoln or a Cleveland or an Alfred Smith—one who is such a master of politics that no politician can outwit him, who is such a master of social and economic principles that he knows the remedies to apply, and who is such a master of statecraft that he can impose the will of the people upon reluctant lawmakers and bring to pass the effective measures of statute law to correct abuses."

DR. WISE WILL DELIVER FAMOUS LECTURE HERE

The central figure in one of the most interesting religious arguments of recent years will be an Atlanta visitor on Tuesday, February 7, when Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue, of New York, gives his famous lecture, "Jew and Gentile," at the auditorium.

Some of the beliefs voiced by Dr. Wise from his New York pulpit have proven the basis of far-fetched church discussions. About a year ago, for instance, he expressed the opinion that Jesus Christ, regardless of the question of divinity, was one of the greatest men who ever lived. Immediately a certain group of Jewish leaders took issue with Dr. Wise and the controversy which ensued was long and heated.

Dr. Wise has not visited Atlanta for many years and much interest in his coming has been expressed since the first announcement. He is being brought here under the sponsorship of the Junior Hadassah, an organization of young women who work for charitable and welfare causes. Seats are now being sold by all members of the Junior Hadassah and will be put on sale within the next few days at half a dozen leading downtown business places, including Jacobs' Pharmacy, Cable Piano company and Phillips & Crew Piano company.

COURT CONTINUES EX-KLAN DRAGON'S SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Chicago, January 24.—(AP)—The $50,000 suit of Charles Palmer, former grand dragon for the Illinois realm of the Ku Klux Klan, against the Klan, was continued indefinitely today.

Klan counsel told the court that a motion to suppress service on the Klan because of faulty service was pending. Palmer claimed damages for alleged breach of contract which, he said, bound the Klan to pay him for each new member.

7 CIVILIANS TO TAKE COURSE AT BENNING RAID GIANT STILL ON CHATTAHOOCHEE

Seven civilians, officers in the organized reserves, are to put aside their "civies" and don the uniform of the United States army during a three-months course of instruction at Fort Benning, Ga., according to orders issued Tuesday by Major General Richmond P. Davis, commanding the fourth corps area. Their tour of duty extends from February 24 to May 28. The officers so detailed with their consent, coming from various civil pursuits, are: First Lieutenant O. D. Rogen, of Atlanta; Captain R. C. Ellis, of Columbus, Ga.; First Lieutenant C. H. Williams and Captain J. I. Laird, both from New Orleans; Captain William Prather, of Monticello, La.; Captain W. Koffman, of Memphis, and First Lieutenant W. R. Browne, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The still was filled with mash ready to run and it was estimated that it contained the makings for several hundred gallons of whiskey. No arrests were made as nobody was around at the time the still was unearthed.

Julia, Ga., January 24.—(Special.) C. C. Bush, county policeman, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Knox Johnston on Monday raided a lonely spot near the banks of the Chattahoochee river a few miles from here and captured a still of approximately 2,000 gallons capacity.

The Public Has a Right To Expect Good Taste

Even in a Furniture Sale!

Sketched—Reproduction Virginia Sofa in Duncan Phyfe design. One of the many original and distinctive pieces that will be seen in the February Furniture Sale, starting Monday, January 30th, on the Fifth Floor.

We believe there is entirely too much mystery and subterfuge employed in the selling of furniture—and entirely too little use of the "Golden Rule" in measuring quality and value. The idea behind this furniture department is to make the selection of furniture an easy and pleasant task, as free from complication as is the selection of a spool of thread or a pair of hose. There is no smoke screen of mystery to hide the stigma of misrepresentation. Woods are called by their proper names—and construction is honestly and accurately described and explained.

And good taste—that indescribable thing which is so essential to the harmony of a room or the beauty of a home. A furniture stylist, carefully trained for her important work, has final and autocratic powers in the selection or rejection of every piece of furniture that reaches our furniture floor. It must be of sound, honest quality. It must be fairly priced—and it must be in good style and in good taste. The public is entitled to these things—the public has a right to expect these things. The public gets them here!

EDUCATION IN GEORGIA.

The marvelous progress that Georgia is making in education was brought out most strikingly in the address of Chancellor Snelling, of the university, at the first session of the present state-wide farmers' conference at the State College of Agriculture. He illustrated by the amazing progress since the close of the world war until the present time.

In the first place state appropriations have materially increased, for common schools from $3,000,000 to $6,000,000, for the university from $65,000 in 1918 to $245,000 in 1928, for the State College of Agriculture from $70,000 in 1918 to $165,000 in 1928, for Georgia Tech from $100,000 in 1918 to $277,500 in 1928.

While these appropriations for maintenance are yet inadequate and the state has done little or nothing in the way of providing building funds that are necessary, it is heartening to find the state legislature more determined than ever before to support not only elementary, but higher education.

In the meantime enormous progress is being made in the school system, in consolidations along modern lines, and in the establishment of accredited high schools. Infinitely more students are enrolled than ever before. There is a general quickening to the necessity for education in every county in the state.

Four-year accredited high schools in Georgia increased from 167 in 1918 to 345 in 1927; the number of teachers grew from 860 to 2,180; enrollment from 23,000 to 49,000; and the number of graduates from 3,600 to 6,500. More than $2,000,000 was expended for new high school buildings last year.

The enrollment of the university increased from 807 in 1917 to 1,741 for last year, and numbered in the later figures are 362 women students. Enrollment of short course students in the State College of Agriculture has increased from 500 to 2,300, and in the same time years the university summer school has more than doubled its attendance, which last summer was 2,200. The grand total of students instructed by the university was 7,403 in 1927 as against 2,337 in 1917.

During the past ten years there has been an increase of more than 100 per cent in the annual university system attendance.

In this fast age of invention, the application of science to business, industry, farming, and the tendency toward specialization, education is absolutely essential in order to keep up with the procession. Parents are realizing it. The state legislature is realizing it. Everybody is realizing it, and Georgia is nobly responding to the call as Chancellor Snelling so forcefully demonstrated.

GEORGIA'S "MASTER FARMERS."

Under the auspices of the Progressive Farmer, a leading agricultural journal, twelve Georgia "master farmers" will be decorated during the farmers' conference at Athens this week, and will be dined at the Biltmore, in Atlanta, Saturday.

The selection of these "master farmers" was made by a series of points, with 1,000 the unit—so many points of merit for production, land efficiency, soil building, general upkeeping, balanced program, home comforts, family cooperation, etc.

The twelve farmers who receive this honor this year represent every geographical section of the state.

What twelve farmers can do ten thousand can. The fact is, there are hundreds of farmers in Georgia who may not measure up in every particular to all of the coordinated features of profitable and inviting rural life that were promulgated but who are "master farmers," nevertheless. There should be hundreeds more than there are. Home life on the farm, plus the profits from successful farming, ought to make the farm family the happiest on earth. Certainly there is no life so independent, if the farmer and his wife cooperate and if they are both progressive.

The Progressive Farmer deserves commendation for stimulating this interest in making farm life more inviting, the farms better kept and more profitable, with handsome pure-bred live stock and all of the features of beauty and culture and comfort.

With this contest the State Agricultural college has been closely associated, and no finer piece of constructive work has ever been conceived.

GOVERNOR ON FORESTRY.

Governor L. G. Hardman never delivered a more forceful or intensely interesting address than on Monday at the opening of the Georgia state-wide farmers' conference at the agricultural congress.

He spoke on the splendid advantages offered in Georgia for the development of millions of acres of pine forests by the natural process of seeding, and of subsequent protection from fires, and of the economic value arising to the farmers, and especially to their children, from the planting of prescribed areas—unsusited to other profitable cultivation—to persimmon, dogwood and black walnut, all of which command fabulous prices for timber, and will reward the cut-over areas so that new forests may be coming on all the time.

Black walnut in the manufacture of highly polished furniture is almost worth its weight in gold. The persimmon and dogwood are used in the manufacture of shuttles for the great textile industry. Both reward the cut-over areas. Governor Hardman stressed attention also to the value of the persimmon in the manufacture of sugar, the fruit containing not only protein in large quantities but about 24 per cent sugar. He expects to see Georgia take the initiative in the manufacture of persimmon sugar, which will rank, he thinks, along with cane, beet or maple sugar.

The governor's address was thoughtful, learned, scientific, and outlined a sound economic plan for the reclamation of millions of cut-over areas and of acres not otherwise profitably productive of commodity crops.

His address should be published in full and broadcast throughout the state.

THE 1928 FARM PROGRAM.

The 1928 farm program, as promulgated by Dr. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, is sound, scientifically prepared, and if farmers will follow it, all other conditions being normal, the purchasing power of agriculture this year should exceed that of any year in the past.

The only criticism we could possibly make—for the program is thoroughly balanced—is that he suggests cotton acreage "the same."

We would suggest rather a reduction of at least 10 per cent in acreage to this commodity, with a greater degree of intensiveness in cultivation—the whole idea of operation being to materially increase the average land yield to the acre, thereby making no less cotton, but on less acreage. This would release a substantial acreage that could be utilized in more food and feed crops, or in other than cotton money crops.

On the whole, however, the program is one of great merit and should be carefully studied by every farmer.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Now that the poultry and egg business has become a profitable side line for farmers, it will be well for those who go into it to realize that as a cash crop an egg is not merely an egg nor a chicken just a chicken.

While there is always a fair demand for poultry and eggs in the smaller cities, the great market, and hence the potential destination of these farm products, is the great cities of the country where higher prices always prevail.

The city housewife does not object particularly to the high price she pays for a chicken; but if she is buying a chicken that is what she wants; and chicken to her means a tender fowl that will cook readily and be a delight to her family or guests—not one composed of tough muscle, bone and skin.

The same rule holds good as to eggs. When the housewife pays five cents for an egg, she expects an article of food that may be eaten with pleasure, not one that is well on the road to decay.

Georgia consumes many times the quantity of poultry and eggs the state produces, so if it is profitable for farmers of California, Missouri, Iowa and Tennessee to raise these articles of food for sale in Georgia, certainly our farmers may engage in this side line with profit.

We need market facilities, and they are coming rapidly into existence. Stable markets can be built only with dependable products, so the real foundation of marketing is the farm, where produce should be graded and prepared for shipment according to the standards recognized by the trade.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

American Children.

"American children are 'insouciant,' open-minded and gay," so writes a noted observer in Comedia, a Parisian paper, after a winter of observation in the United States. They work without effort, that is to say, very little. They only learn the indispensable. In the big cities many streets are reserved for them and their play. They are safe from the life-crushing juggernauts of modern traffic. At the age of 12 an American child upholds his own opinion against that of his parents and opposes his reactions to their reactions. They are treated and advised as if they were adults. At 15 they go out to earn a living, without losing their innocence and their gaiety. They will have known neither business, nor industry, and they will die without having noticed that they have lived. Quietness and retreat in the event of life, preparation for death; these are unknown things in a country where death is but an insignificant detail."

Proletarians.

R. Rakowski, who was still soviet ambassador to France two months ago and at that time occupied the grand palace of the embassy on the Rue de Grenelle, where the plate is of solid gold and silver, is to be banished to a foreign region. His wife, the celebrated hostess of a distinguished literary salon will follow him in exile. Rakowski and Rakowski have been working in a leather factory since their expulsion from the communist party. It is somewhat surprising that they were not executed. According to Riga-magazine reports about Russian conditions, Rakowski's life is like the chief business of the soviet. Doubtless the Stalin group in Moscow realizes that Rakowski and his fellows are right in assuming that persecution will result only in strengthening their position. That is why an occasion has not been found to execute the chief opposition leaders. No matter how many were executed, some would remain to take advantage of an eventual swing of the pendulum. And revolutionaries are great gamblers. Each member of the opposition is willing to take a chance of being the fortunate survivor.

Gourmet Victory.

There is justice still in France for gastronomes as proven by the story of M. Zeveas and his pate de lievre. M. Zeveas is both a lawyer and a gourmet. In this double capacity he prosecuted a patissier who had burned a pate de lievre confided to his mercenary care. The drama unfolded itself four or five nights before the trial. M. Zeveas had invited several friends to supper, among them an actress from the Comedie-Francaise, noted for her selection of good things and many times fourishes from his own culinary acquaintances. M. Zeveas had expected particularly that his wife would appreciate his pate de lievre, prepared according to an old recipe which he had found at Montbrison. His cook wanted the dish to be perfect and she entrusted it to the patissier for baking in his oven. At 11 o'clock on Christmas eve M. Zeveas saw his cook enter, pale with emotion, to tell him that the pate de lievre had been ruined. M. Zeveas brought suit against him for moral and material damage and he said that his sensibilities and pride had been damaged. The patissier, however, was a guest that pate de lievre. He won the suit.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL.

IN NEW YORK. Many thousands of New York tell about the hardboiled attitude they run up against. Visitors returning to their homes often say they are glad to be back in a friendly town, after experiencing the shock of meeting rough-and-tough New York.

I believe that this impression, widespread and persistent, may be traced to a few disreputable characters who are many hard-boiled or indifferent or discourteous hotel clerks in New York, but I believe other cities have them, too.

Those who visit night clubs find a disagreeable attitude of cynical selfishness displayed by the management toward out-of-town customers. The rate theater ticket offices are apt to employ ignorant and coarse bullies who try to scare patrons into accepting what is handed them.

And, worst offender of all, the sightseeing bus.

A sister from Kansas is visiting me. I took her on one of the bus rides from Times Square through the Holland tunnel.

She appeared to be sound and safe when one viewed it from without. Inside, you found the seats uncomfortable and crowded and much of the conversation was of a vulgar and vulgar nature. And it turned out that the engine was in such bad condition that it was actually dangerous on such a trip.

The woman wanted a hotel room, because her little son had to sit on a make-shift seat that was uncomfortable and in bad repair. The bus driver, however, collected a "kick" (You find none in advance, before entering the bus.) He shouted in an insulting tone: "We don't want any complaints from passengers. We get the Mayor's order of gift of our employees, and we don't want any more of it."

A slight young man of evident good breeding, protocol, and good looks, against such talk to a lady. The mayor turned around to size up the objector, and then shouted: "If you don't like it you can get out, see? How do you like that? We won't take nothing off of you nor anybody else!"

These bus people use the streets in Times Square for parking space and for their place of business. They should be compelled to treat patrons courteously, even though their patrons are nearly all strangers.

A WOMAN MAYOR'S OBSERVATIONS.

She became a member of the Seattle city council in 1922 and was its president from 1923 to 1925. She was elected mayor in 1925. Mrs. Landes acted as mayor when the mayor left the city for a time. Her husband is dean of the college of sciences at the University of Washington.)

Not infrequently some person nosing about a forgotten attic will chance upon a treasure which would seem to beggar the golden hoards of Captain Kidd or Black Beard.

Many's the heart projected into palpitation, and just so, as the magic name of "Stradivarius" emerged from the dust coating of some ancient violin.

Several queries are received yearly by The Constitution from people in possession of violins hearing this mark.

A large and up-to-date factory in Germany is known to turn out hundreds of fiddles daily, each stamped with the "Stradivarius" name.

While the genuine has been known to command the fabulous sum of $500,000, virtually every instrument produced by the famous violin-maker is familiar to experts who have traced each one down through the centuries.

The possibility of finding another Stradivarius must always exist; but the probability is very slim, indeed.

The radiator caps of Atlanta motor cars mount every conceivable emblem of speed. Here eagles spread metal pinions; wild geese are rigidly on the wing—nickle greynolds race unenjoined. Fetching sirens and impetuous Dinans seem all too thinly plated to breast the big wind.

There's Mercury, the Italian Western Union boy, rushing a night letter. How about a silver-mounted tortoise for the installment-cumbered, third-hand flivver?

At one of those second-story halls out Poncehite the youngsters of the town seem forever dancing.

Jazz throbs through rose-lit windows . . . the symphony of motion. Only the rhythm carries to the street, but a gray head is lifted, stiffening joints respond to a quicker step.

Outside a boy and girl sit in a motor waiting for curb service to bring them a bottle of ginger ale "to go." She may trip over the piano when she gets home. . . in the interest of education, all mothers should insist on kissing their daughters "good night" each morning.

A conversation overheard in a restaurant and boiled down, ran something like this: "He had won in safety to the age of bunnies when a ditty little brunette walked into his office on 4-inch French heels."

star athlete, president of his class associated with the college paper, working hard and allowing himself only four hours sleep per night. "My ambition was to be on the crew because I felt that with my political ambitions for college honors, I didn't want to be a cake-pusher and get by on good looks." He made the crew and became a star. In some strange manner this athletic youth got an infection in his head. It was a strange infection, it wasted his body, it took the pep out of his mind, it ate into his very soul, but not into his will.

He gave up the crew and worked his way to Honolulu in order to get away from his friends—the younger ones who tried to cheer him and the nice old ladies who wanted to hold his hand.

On the islands his leg was amputated. Long before that his pocketbook had been well amputated. He earned some money telling how he got himself into such a fix, but he decided to go around the world on his leg.

Then the other leg became infected. His whole body was filled with poison. Altogether he submitted to nine operations; some without an anesthetic. He kept it out of sight, but he was under the influence of ether. He was determined that he would not lose the other leg.

Eventually he finished his 25,000 mile journey with $16.00 to spare, with a store to tell and a body with which to tell it.

The Daybook of a New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Constitution.

New York, Jan. 25.—There's a small tea room in Grand Central just opposite the entrance to the subway. It's a tiny place, holding at the most a score of diners. At noontime, yesterday, I counted seven women, meekly waiting in line outside the door for the diners inside. It was much too crowded for them to wait inside.

The man who writes in the Evening World under the name of "Outs of New York" title has a strong method of linking up facts. One of his writings was quoted here before. I think, however, he was somewhat off the mark. He said the salesman always "hells" prove it. He asks the car a long string of questions about its construction and its merits. The auto appears to be a good one, and in so doing gives a good account of itself.

The auditors, amazed, peer into the car and under, looking for a plant. The car is a clever stunt in a simple. Concealed under the hood is a telephone loud-speaker and microphone which is connected with another room.

The boys on the Big Street hold a grudge against Maurice Campbell, the prohibition director, who was formerly a Broadway theatrical producer. He is the man responsible for the recent raid on the Chez Morgan night club. The club is altogether traitorous, according to those in the profession.

Another story concerning the police has it that a man accosted a new traffic cop on a rather nice car. "Can you tell me how I can get to Wananaker's from here?" he inquired.

"Sorry, sir," the officer said, "but I'm a traffic cop and I don't know."

And it's quite likely.

mit that a man-size job may be worn as well. Nor is the rest of the nation laughing at Seattle.

My chief charge against men in politics is not a charge of dishonesty or of extravagance as is the hue and cry against them in other cities. I have not found these faults in the men with whom I have been associated in the city council. But I have sometimes found indifference on matters that seemed to me to be vital. And I have sometimes found too much emphasis placed on business and too little on the family and the home and their duty to be to serve these two institutions. There is nothing sentimental in this. It is a philosophy, I insist. It is hard common sense. No city is greater than its homes.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

ONYXIS VERMICULARIS A FAMILIAR PARASITE.

Now that the tapeworm trade offers poor pickings, owing to the spread of elementary health knowledge among the laity, the "tapeworm specialists" must turn to something of their size for explanation. Onyxis vermicularis, or as it is familiarly known, the thread worm or pin worm, for example.

It is strange how people with nothing much the matter but a head: appetite and a gaunt frame are generally willing to have a diagnosis of onyxis vermicularis, or as it is familiarly known, the thread worm or pin worm, for example.

But laws, courts and juries are as they are because human nature is what it is, and any reform that depends upon a change in human nature must be a long time in coming.

There is a short cut, however—a simple and certain means to an end greatly desired, and the men who can make use of it are lawyers.

Though laws, courts and juries remain as they are, the lawyers can make an end of crime when they wish.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Buffalo, N. Y. Why don't the plain people of today appreciate Shakespeare?

Some of them do. A great deal has been said and written about the "common people" of Shakespeare's day. On the other hand, the son responds to that touch and is balanced and steady by the father's discriminating judgment.

The Boy Scout movement, the Young Men's Christian association and kindred organizations should be carefully studied by the father in culture and in citizenship. It can not be overemphasized so long as the majority of ne'er-do-wells, wastrels and criminals are young men who usually reveal the lack of proper parental supervision.

The father is the priest of the home. No other person, still less institution, can take his place or do his work. Should he allow himself to be diverted from it that work remains undone. The consequence is the boy grows up as due to remembrance for its good and susceptible to its evil.

Schenectady, N. Y. Is a young woman's life full when she has a fine home, a baby and a capital husband? I am in my twenties, yet sometimes I wish I had not married and grieve over my present condition. Is this foolishness or what?

The source of your dissatisfaction may be entirely mental. You already possess what the majority of young women desire. Yet you are not satisfied and wonder why. Perhaps your maidenly imagination painted an exaggerated picture of wedded bliss and led you to expect far more from your husband than you contribute yourself.

If so, adjust those expectations to the realities and requirements of your situation. Do not demand better than can be made with wheat, or imitate the baby who cried for the moon. Remind yourself that the most desirable circumstances will never harmonize with impossible ideals.

On the other hand, your trouble may originate in apparent trifles, such as routine work, want of change or of a wider social intercourse than your domestic circle affords. Talk the matter over with your husband. Do so cheerfully and without complaint. A healthy-minded young married woman whose physical strength is equal to her tasks finds a paradise in her baby alone, to say nothing of a good home and an affectionate protector. I see no reason why you should not regard this distress as due to removable causes and be succeeded by a renewed era of happiness and peace.

MAN SLAYS WIFE AND SON, AGED 16, THEN KILLS SELF

Houston, Texas, January 24.—(United News.)—B. T. Quarles, 45, shot and killed his wife, aged 39, and his 16-year-old son, and then committed suicide at his home here today. The bodies were discovered by a roomer in the home.

LEGISLATURE KILLS EFFORT TO ABOLISH DEATH PENALTY

Albany, N. Y., January 24.—(United News.)—The movement for abolition of capital punishment in New York, which began with the Snyder-Gray executions 10 days ago, received a decided setback today when the assembly judiciary committee voted against reporting any bills repealing capital punishment laws. This action practically killed any chance of changing the law at this session of the legislature.

Truth Strange as Fiction
STORIES COME FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE
In $200 Prize Scenarios

BY ELMO HAMBY.
Scenario Contest Editor.
Although it's bromidic and shaky with old age, the old line "truth is stranger than fiction" was never shown to better light than it is in the $200 prize All-Atlanta scenario contest being conducted by The Constitution and the Howard theater, in which more than a score of manuscripts hearing the inscription "a true story" have been submitted.

Some of them are written on the stiff stationery of large business concerns, and one came from the office of the president. Delicately scented manuscript written, no doubt, in the privacy of the boudoir, while poring over some old love letters, form-large part of these stories stamped "a true story."

Other film synopses, written at the point of virile imaginations, are just as new and as original. No type of story is barred in the contest—it may be a true story, or it may be a pure work of the imagination. It may be tragedy, comedy, romance, melodrama or of any other type.

The provision in writing the scenario or film synopses are that the scenarios all be laid in Atlanta, with two or more scenes in The Constitution building and one or more scenes laid on the stage of the Howard theater. Scenarios are acceptable, but brief and clearly written synopses of 1,000 words or less are preferable. A scenario is the complete blueprint of a picture and requires the work of a skilled writer, while a synopsis is an outline of the story action.

Professional writers, as well as employees of The Constitution, the Howard theater and other theaters and members of their families, are barred from the contest. The scenario for the All-Atlanta movie will be written by an amateur and acted by an amateur cast.

A large producing company will be brought here for the week of February 13, and will make the picture following selection of the prize winning scenario by a committee of film judges comprising Clara Bow, Bebe Daniels, Annapa Menjou and George Bancroft.
The picture will be shown at the Howard two weeks after completion.

Manuscripts for the contest should be addressed to the Scenario Contest
Editor of The Constitution.

Famous Broadway Director
VICTOR HYDE IS REAL ARTIST
To Stage Big Amateur Show

Victor Hyde, actor, author and producer, who many Broadway stars thank for their present prosperity in the theater world, will stage The Con-stitution's Grand Follies at Loew's Grand theater during the week of February 13.

Mr. Hyde will arrive in this city soon and will interview all applicants and select his cast.

Mr. Hyde holds the distinction of having been the first Russian dancer in this country and of having been the teacher of such celebrities as the late Vernon Castle, Ivan Bankoff and Gloria and MacMahon, Diamond and Chappelle.

Shortly after his arrival in this city, he will stage a big amateur show country from Russia, where his father was a member of the Imperial Russian school staff. Mr. Hyde made quite a hit in Boston as a dancer, appearing as the principal dancer with "Fluffy Ruffles" at the Park theater. He later returned to Boston as the featured dancer with Lew Field in "Old Dutch."

Being a native and product of the Imperial Dancing school, Hyde performed before the late czar and many crowned heads of Europe. There are three brothers, Victor, John and Alex.
The elder Hyde, when the three youngsters could barely toddle about the home in Petersburg, decided that the trio would be dancers. Of the Otto Peltzer Is Permitted To Run in U.S.

A. A. U. Officials Sanction Three Appearances in American Meets.

New York, January 24.—(P)—The Amateur Athletic union, through its foreign relations committee, today cleared the way for three American competitive appearances by its athletes.

To gain formal sanction for these engagements, Peltzer needs only to comply with the usual A. A. U. regulations governing amateur competition and agree to make no exhibition appearances.

The German, who conquered both Paavo Nurmi and Edwin Wide in Europe, already has filed his entry in the Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden February 2 and in the Illinois Athletic club's track and field carnival at Chicago February 10. His third appearance, provided he complies with a request of the foreign relations committee, will be in the National A. A. U. indoor championships at the Garden, February 25.

The day's developments brought with them a revival of the hope that Pelzer may yet match strides with Lloyd Hahn, American star, possibly in the Chicago meet. Pelzer has expressed a preference for the 1,000-yard run in this engagement but the Boston flier, who has been unbeaten in more than two years, may be induced to compete in the same event.

The Illinois club announced today that barring a change in Feltzer's request he would be entered in the 1,000 yards against Ray Conger, Johnny Sittig and one or two others, possibly Hahn.

CLEARED UP, SAYS GREEN

Jacksonville, Fla., January 24.—(AP) Cliff Green, president of the Southeastern league, tonight issued a statement to the Florida Times-Union in which he pointed out that all charges against Charles B. Griner, president of the local club, had been cleared up in Chicago, contrary to reports which had been carried before. Green was present at the Chicago meeting of the national commission, at which a review of the judgment issued at Dallas against Griner of $1,550 in favor of the Florida State league and a charge of insubordination to representatives of the com-

Green stated that the Florida State league claims were adjudged null and void, the judgment of $1,530 being reversed. He also said that the only penalty incurred by Griner for the alleged discourtesy to Judge W. G. Bramham, during the Greenville-Jacksonville post-series last year, was to be a letter of censure from president

Since that time, according to Green, charges of gambling in the Jacksonville baseball park have been revived and an investigation is now under way.

Mr. Green stated that there never were any charges against Griner presented concerning the settlement of precepts from the post-season series.

Dance Hall Girl Murders

One of Gold Dust Twins

"Dangerous Dan" McGrew, once the terror of the Yukon, is now quite as docile as only a dead man can be, the big nugget and old man from Nome having been shot last night in the Maltese Saloon.

It was bitter cold, the thermometer registering 40 below, and Dan walked into the saloon the boys had started to whoop it up, and the ragtime kid at the end of the mahogany bar was tinkling a merry tune.

"What are we going to have?" roared Dan, "rain or snow?"

The words, spoken with a Scotch burr, were hardly out of his mouth when a notorious dance hall girl, known as Lou, approached "Dangerous Dan," pulled her rod and plugged him through the heart, and as he fell the floor she kissed him, according to witnesses of the trag-

"Sure, I killed him," Lou brazenly told Trooper Ginsberg, who arrested her. "I didn't care how much he beat me, for that was my way of showing him affection. I put up with his halts, too, for I was his best friend and couldn't tell him. But

When he scoffed at me when I begged him to smoke O.M. Golds and get rid of that irritating cough of his I bumped him off." Lou says she's going to ask a change of venue to Chicago when indicted. After that she plans to show a couple of pictures in Hollywood before accepting a lucrative

You Can Win $2,000.00

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S "COW" FIGURE GAME

$2,000.00 First Prize — $1,000.00 Second Prize — $500.00 Third Prize
Twenty-five Cash Prizes in All—Amounting to $4,515.00

$500.00 Extra First Prize for Promptness

This is your opportunity to use your spare time to advantage. These big cash prizes are going to be given away to the lucky winners, and no one has a better chance than you if you will only make the proper effort. The object of the game is to see how much you can make the "COW" weigh by filling inside of the border representing the cow with figures "9." Now isn't that simple?

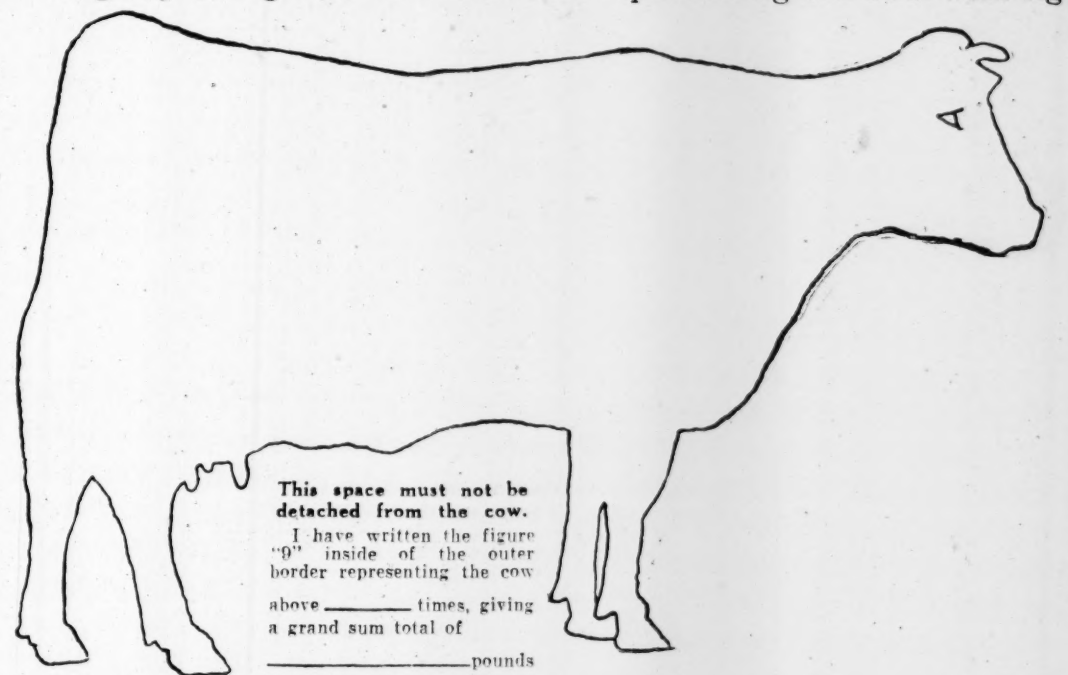

This space must not be detached from the cow.
 I have written the figure "9" inside of the outer border representing the cow above _____ times, giving a grand sum total of _____ pounds.

(NOTE: Write your name and complete address plainly on the white margin in front of the cow.)

How many times can you write by hand, using a lead pencil, the figure "9" inside the border forming the cow outline? The sum total of the number of the "9's" that you put in the cow picture will represent your answer or what you give as the weight of the cow. For example twenty "9's" will be 180 pounds; one hundred "9's" would be 900 pounds, etc. Can you write in one hundred "9's," two hundred, or how many? The person having the greatest number of "9's," that is, the largest sum total, will win first prize, second largest second prize, etc.

(NOTE: While there are three cow pictures given in this announcement, so a contestant may have plenty of material to work on, only one cow picture is to be submitted with a solution.)

This space must not be detached from the cow.
 I have written the figure "9" inside of the outer border representing the cow above _____ times, giving a grand sum total of _____ pounds.

(NOTE: Write your name and complete address plainly on the white margin in front of the cow.)

How Much Can You Make the "Cow" Weigh?

THAT'S THE PROBLEM!

TRY YOUR HAND AT IT BY WRITING THE FIGURE "9" AS MANY TIMES AS YOU CAN INSIDE THE BORDERLINE OF THE "COW."

When you have them all written in, add them. That will give you your answer to "How Much Can You Make the Cow Weigh." Every "9" stands for 9 pounds, and the total of "9's" you have written in the cow space is your weight record.

Begin now on the game by clipping out the "cow" picture and start with lead pencil to filling in with the figure "9." You will find it absorbing fun, and every "9" that you write in the "cow" figure takes you further on your way to the big cash prizes that are to be given.

Be sure that the "9's" do not touch each other, nor touch the border of the cow. You may have additional copies of the "cow" picture by writing to the Cow Contest Dept., enclosing a stamped return envelope. The extra copies, however, will be on the same grade of paper as this is printed on.

You have a chance to earn $35.00, $250.00, $1,000.00 or $2,000.00, as explained and shown in the Prize List, and $500.00 extra for promptness.

How to Win $2,000.00

It is not necessary to send a subscription, but by qualifying your entry into "How much can you make the cow weigh" game with one or two subscriptions, you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, the first prize is $35.00, but if winner of first prize has qualified with one six months' subscription, the prize will be $250.00 instead of $35.00. If qualified with one year's subscription the prize will be $1,000.00 instead of $35.00; or if qualified with two annual subscriptions the prize would be $2,000.00 instead of $35.00, and so on with proportional increases throughout the entire prize list. In all there are 25 prizes, as shown in this announcement.

$35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize (the person having the largest sum total in the cow picture) if no subscription is sent to the daily and Sunday Constitution.

$250.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal; second prize $200.00, third prize $100.00, etc. (See second column in prize list.)

$1,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one annual subscription, new or renewal, to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50 remittance, second prize $500.00, third prize $250.00, etc. (See third column in prize list.)

$2,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize, provided two yearly subscriptions to the daily and Sunday Constitution are sent, one of which must be new, at $9.50 each. Total remittance $19.00, second prize $1,000.00; third prize $500.00, etc. (See last column in prize list.) Be sure to write your qualifying subscription on a separate sheet of paper from the "cow" picture, giving your name and address as well as the name and address of each subscriber. Remittance should be sent by money order, personal check or bank check. Currency should always be registered.

Observe These General Rules of the Contest!

- All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families.
- Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the three amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered, a solution cannot be changed.
- The first prize will be awarded to the person having the greatest sum total, which is to be determined by the sum of the figures "9" written in the space designated inside of the border forming the picture representing the cow; to the second greatest total second prize, third greatest total third prize, etc.
- Any lead pencil may be used. All writing or drawing pens of artists or engineers or their like are barred, as ink cannot be used on this grade of paper without blurring. The figures "9" need not be perfect in shape, but must be complete. Write as small as you like with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make—just so each "9" is fully shaped. Figures cannot touch each other, nor are they permitted to touch any part of the borderline forming the shape of the cow.
- Copperplate type, shorthand, reproductions or reductions are barred, also duplicates of the original. Every "9" must actually be made by hand with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make, and must be discernible to the naked eye, meaning clear and distinct to a person of average good eyesight or equivalent. The natural eye by those who do not wear glasses, and ordinary reading glasses by those who wear glasses only guide allowed in filling in the figure "9." A "9" with either straight or curved tail is permissible.
- Every contestant must give the correct total of the weight of the cow in the answer submitted by him. Incorrect statement disqualifies the solution. This weight of course is the sum total of the "9's" he has written in the figure representing the cow. This is important! Your name and complete address must be plainly written on margin of sheet on which your answer is given, or blank printed for that purpose, or a blank of your own selection attached hereto.

7. In case of ties, while there is hardly a chance in 10,000 of a tie, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions, another puzzle will be submitted to those tied on the same order of this one, except a smaller "cow" picture, after which should ties still result each contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

8. Only one prize will be awarded to a person, household, or group of persons. Any person or household, or group of persons submitting duplicates are barred.

9. The decision of The Atlanta Constitution must be accepted as final and conclusive in all matters, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decision of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

10. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right to reject at any time any contestant whom it believes has violated the rules. The solution of the winner of first prize will be reproduced in The Constitution, together with the published result which will be published as soon as possible after the closing date of the contest.

11. All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless as to whether or not a subscription for the daily and Sunday Constitution be sent in.

12. The contest is open to new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $5.00 for six months subscription or $9.50 for 12 months subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions or Tri-Weekly subscriptions not acceptable in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent, postmaster, or otherwise, no commission can be deducted. In column 2 of prize list, six months' subscription there referred to can be either new or renewal; column

3, 12 months' subscription, $9.50, can be either new or renewal. Column 4, requiring two annual subscriptions, one can be a renewal, but one must be new. A new subscription means one who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly through any source, and has not within the past 60 days.

13. Subscriptions secured by the means of this contest in Atlanta and suburbs will be delivered by carrier service. In towns outside of Atlanta, where The Constitution has carrier delivery service, the paper may be delivered by carrier, upon request of the subscriber or contestant; otherwise the paper will be sent by mail.

14. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month, or otherwise, may send or bring directly to The Constitution a six or twelve months' payment to qualify a solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent at that time must be paid to him as the remittance sent us will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payments. If all arrearages are not paid, the solution may not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present date of expiration. All qualifying subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

15. Contest closes Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. All solutions delivered in person must be at The Constitution office by 9:00 p. m. of that date, but may be mailed any time before midnight. Solutions mailed at any post office in Georgia and adjoining states bearing postmark of no later date than midnight, February 8th, 1928, will be accepted if rules governing same are complied with. The contest extends from Wednesday, January 4th, 1928, to and including Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger prizes to do so, after which no further qualification remittances will be accepted.

The above rules are simple, easy to understand, and is all the information that can be given on the contest except that which appears in the announcement of which this is a part.

Closing Date

THE "HOW MUCH CAN YOU MAKE THE COW WEIGH" GAME CLOSSES WEDNESDAY, FEB. 8TH, 1928.

NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS ONCE BEEN REGISTERED.

If you find that you can make the cow weigh more than the first solution which you sent, the only thing you can do is to send in another solution, which must be qualified independent of the first solution submitted. In other words, the qualification of one solution already submitted cannot be transferred to a later solution.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER!

While the amount you pay with the solution does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

Address your solution, remittances, etc., to the Contest Manager, Daily Circulation Dept., The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Nobody Loves a Skinny Woman

Gain Pounds of Weight in 3 Weeks with New YEAST and IRON—or pay nothing

Folks are amazed at Ironized Yeast. They say 5 to 15 pounds are gained in 3 weeks! Skinny limbs covered with rounded, graceful flesh! Ugly hollows in shoulders filled up! Eyes sparkling with health! They ask: how does Ironized Yeast work so quickly?

How Yeast and Iron Build Weight

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strength-giving Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron the same as is found in nature and is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective. For Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening value of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you more than half the tonics required by yeast or iron taken separately. If you are underweight, nervous or tired, you need Ironized Yeast. Steady, absolutely harmless, 60 nice, pleasant tasting tablets to a handy bottle. They will not upset the stomach or cause gas or bloating.

Try It On "Money-Back" Offer

Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If not delighted with the quick results, get your money back.

If inconvenient to buy from the drug store, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor circulation, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal. © 1927-L.T. I HAVE SAID IN MY HEART

BY IDAH MGLONE GIBSON.

Who Makes Your Opinions For You?

"It is astonishing," said a young man the other evening, "how many people allow the last person with whom they talk to form their opinions. The other evening there was a rather turbulent, gesticulating crowd about a man on a soap box down town. As I drew near I heard him say, 'All the money in the world has come from the work of your hands. It was and is being made by you. Why do you not go and get what belongs to you?' Why wear the yoke that the capitalist puts about your neck? Are you cowards? Until you take your own, it will be kept from you."

"Just at that moment a policeman sauntered up and stopped to listen. The man on the soap box stepped down and disappeared in the crowd, which continued to gesticulate and talk in agitated tones. "Looking at the men I decided to see what I could do, and although I had never harangued a crowd from a soap box, I mounted the one that had been vacated and commenced to talk."

"I told them that the man who spoke before me was only stirring up strife. That he had put forth no constructive policies at all. All he was doing was the cheapest and easiest thing in the world to do. He simply was advocating the tearing down and destruction of things as they are without making any provision for putting anything better in their places. The man who had been talking to them had no idea of leadership. I explained to them he was only inciting the spirit of the mob."

"Nothing was accomplished in any direction without a leader. By the time I reached this place someone asked me who I was and I told them I was one of themselves. Although at that moment I was wearing a white collar, yet I earned my living by the work of my hands and that I had learned that nothing in business, in manufacturing, in trades or finance was or could be accomplished without leadership. There must be generals as well as subordinate officers and privates."

"After I had finished, that turbulent crowd had quieted down and was talking of leadership and of the building up instead of tearing down."

So much for mob psychology and the making of mob ideas.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BODIES OF 3 BOYS FOUND BY PLANE

Miami, Fla., January 24.—(AP)—Floating just under the surface of Biscayne bay, the bodies of three boys who left Miami early Saturday on what was to have been a week-end canoe trip to Virginia Key, across the bay, were discovered by the pilot of an airplane flying 1,000 feet over the water and were recovered late today.

The boys were Carl Richmond, William E. Cooper and Ralph Miller. All the bodies were fully clothed.

A. B. Chalk, pilot of the plane, was flying over the bay with a passenger. He sighted young Richmond's body by accident. An airplane search of the bay and of the key was conducted unsuccessfully yesterday, after the boys had failed to return from their outing and their canoe had been found floating upright in the bay.

Boats were dispatched when Chalk came in with Richmond's body over his pontoon, and the other bodies were found. They could be seen plainly from his elevation, the pilot said, though they were hard to locate from the surface level, even with their location pointed out.

No explanation of the tragedy was forthcoming, it having been decided that the canoe did not overturn. Several articles which would have been in an overturn still were in the craft when it was found.

MOODY DECLINES TO ENTER CONTEST WITH AL SMITH

Austin, Texas, January 24.—(AP)—Dan Moody, 34-year-old governor of Texas, announced today that he is "not a candidate for vice president, have not been and have no intention of becoming one."

His declaration followed reports of a row in the Houston democratic executive committee over the endorsement of an "Al Smith-Dan Moody" ticket for president and vice president. Governor Moody has been silent until today concerning recurring reports of a booming him for vice president, although he had reiterated an emphatic stand for democratic adherence to prohibition.

MANY JEFFERSON COUNTY OFFICERS WIN IN PRIMARY

Louisville, Ga., January 24.—(Special)—Jefferson county voters polled an unusually large vote in the primary today despite the fact that it rained the major part of the day. More than 2,400 votes were cast.

M. C. Barwick was reelected judge of the city court, without opposition. R. G. Price was reelected over H. L. Bryant for solicitor of the city court. Miss Louise M. Wright was named ordinary, without opposition.

W. S. Murphy was reelected clerk of the court over C. E. Mathis and W. H. Yaucho. E. C. Thomas retained his position as sheriff, defeating E. M. Reddingfield and J. J. Smith.

L. S. Wren was reelected tax collector over J. R. Murphy and Brooks White. M. A. Evans was reelected tax collector over five opponents in a close race.

Miss Mamie Brooks was elected to the newly created position of county treasurer. She defeated A. B. Mandeville.

M. R. Little was named county school superintendent without opposition. J. R. Lewis defeated H. C. Perkins, incumbent, as a member of the board of revenue. S. W. Overstreet was named a commissioner on the board over W. J. Stephens and John Dickson retained his place on the board, without opposition.

BUTLER ASSERTS COOLIDGE FOLLOWS JEFFERSON POLICY

New York, January 24.—(AP)—The most important follower of the political philosophy of Thomas Jefferson is President Coolidge, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, told the members of the New York Young Republican club tonight at a dinner in Dr. Butler's home.

President Coolidge has time and again emphasized the fundamental importance of local self government, and has resisted the extension of federal power into new fields of administrative control and activity," said Dr. Butler, in support of his contention that distinctions between the major political parties vary greatly from time to time.

UNDERWORLD COMBED FOR FLEEING CONVICTS

Detroit, January 24.—(AP)—The search for 19 of 21 prisoners who early today dug their way to freedom out of a branch of the county jail here in what was described as "the largest wholesale delivery of federal prisoners in the history of the state" assumed international proportions tonight.

Two of the fugitives were recaptured several hours after the escape, but authorities were combing Canadian border cities following receipt of information that most of the escaped prisoners planned to cross the Detroit river into Canada in their dash for liberty. City and state police and federal narcotic agents were scouring Detroit's underworld haunts, believing that some of the fugitives, most of whom were said to be drug addicts, would seek refuge in dives where they might find drugs.

The prisoners, all confined in one cell, dug their way through a brick wall with crude tools fashioned from a plumbing fixture and buckets fastened out. Four prisoners refused to leave the cell, although the way was open to them.

CITY BARS BABY BUGGIES ON MAIN BUSINESS STREET

Santa Cruz, Calif., January 24.—(AP)—Baby carriages no longer will be allowed on the business streets of Santa Cruz.

Scoters, bicycles and particular roller skates also will be barred. Officials declared a roller skating epidemic originating at the Santa Cruz High school has become such a nuisance on the main thoroughfares that drastic measures were necessary to curb it.

An old and all-but forgotten ordinance was resurrected which bars not only roller skates, but baby buggies, scooters and bicycles from the business streets. The authorities say it will be strictly enforced.

SWANSON AGAIN BLOCKS INQUIRY OF S-4 DISASTER

Washington, January 24.—(United News)—Senator Swanson, Virginia democrat, again blocked senate consideration of a resolution authorizing a presidential committee to investigate the S-4 disaster.

Swanson declined to permit the resolution to be taken up by unanimous consent. He and other democratic leaders want the submarine disaster investigated by a congressional committee.

Chairman Hale, of the naval affairs committee, served notice that he would force the resolution before the senate as soon as the Jones merchant marine bill is disposed of.

Krakovich returned to Chicago to find the wife he had left here had heard of his Soviet marriage and had remarried also. New Activities Are Announced By High Museum

The first of the children's free classes in art was organized Saturday afternoon at the High museum, with an enrollment of 118 students. So gratifying was the response that Mr. McKinney, the director of the museum, decided at once to enlarge this department so that more children could be accommodated. Accordingly a new class meeting in the morning at 10 o'clock has been organized to take care of this growing activity.

Two new exhibitions, one-man shows, by Marice Braun and Arthur W. Emerson, will be shown at the High museum, beginning February 15. The work of the former displays the magic of California shores, while the latter introduces the charm of distant Hawaii.

Of particular interest to the art public is the announcement that a free course of talks on art appreciation will be presented to the public at frequent intervals, starting Sunday, January 29 at 3 o'clock. These talks fully illustrated with slides will be given by the director, Dr. J. McKinney. The installation of a children's room where the children may view exhibits of special interest to them is being discussed. With the creation of the free Saturday classes, such a room will assist materially in creating interest.

A special course of lectures for the members of the Atlanta Art association only is announced by Mr. McKinney. These informal talks will start Wednesday afternoon, February 1.

Henry W. Davis will serve as treasurer. New directors are Grover Middlebrooks, George Harris, Lee Ashcraft, J. J. McKinney, Mrs. J. J. McKinney, Lloyd B. Parks, who was vice president, was elected president of the club for the coming year, and Robert B. Troutman, vice president.

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS.

John Arden, handsome young Londoner, meets through an accident lovely Esme Bernore, to whom he is able to render a slight but chivalrous service. He learns that the girl and her companion, Mrs. Sinclair, lately arrived in London from the Argentine, were the last two persons to see Lord Faradale alive. The old earl's sudden and mysterious death is announced to the world by the morning papers and Arden grows suspicious of Mrs. Sinclair when he learns that she is trying to keep their visit to the old earl secret and is coercing Esme into secrecy against her will. The police, however, learn the identity of the two women who visited Lord Faradale just before his death. Faradale, fearing arrest or detection as a material witness, persuaded Esme to accompany her to Paris. John Arden, whose interest in Esme has been aroused because he fears that she is under the influence of an unscrupulous creature, saves her from arrest by kidnapping her at the railroad station from behind Mrs. Sinclair's back. He takes her to the apartment of Andy Burke, one of his best friends, and Burke turns over his room and his housekeeper to her.

The friends put their heads together in Esme's behalf, but in the midst of their plotting Furzeaux, of Scotland Yard, joins them. Esme tells her story to the men and at the completion of it the detective agrees to help her.

Esme, who is the granddaughter of Lord Faradale, had never seen the old man until just before his death. Her father, only child of the earl, had quarreled with him in his youth, had gone out to the Argentine, married, lived and died there. Her mother had died when she was very young. Mrs. Sinclair, a friend of the family, had been very kind to her after her father's death and had invited the lonely girl to live with her. There Esme met Juan de Braganza, a young Argentine, who asked her to marry him. She refused, but he stayed at an inn for coffee. Esme grew ill after drinking it, but maintained her never lost consciousness. She was asked to sign the inn's register, but she refused and demanded to be taken back to town.

Furzeaux tells her that Juan de Braganza claims that she is his wife.

Esme decides to go back to Mrs. Sinclair and Furzeaux agrees to let her go. Mrs. Sinclair and Braganza, who has arrived in London, are placed under surveillance and complete protection is given Esme by the police.

John Arden follows Braganza to Paris at Furzeaux's suggestion and there the trail leads him to Lady Doone, Esme's great aunt and sister of Lord Faradale, who had lived abroad for fifty years. Braganza tries to entice her and in having her acknowledge him as her husband, but disliking his appearance she gives him very little encouragement. Arden wins the old lady completely when he tells her that he intends to run down Braganza's false claim and to marry Esme himself. He induces Lady Doone to come back to England and place Esme under her care. Aunt and niece are attracted to each other at night.

Buchanan, Lord Faradale's butler and life-long enemy, confesses to the murder and then kills himself.

INSTALLMENT LIV.
A LAST JOURNEY.

Sheldon did not use either of the table telephones because there might be a long interval, so he put in a call at the switchboard on the ground floor.

Furzeaux, who seemed strangely slow at settling down to his task, said suddenly:

"James, I'm worried."

"So am I, you shrimp, but I don't make a song about it," retorted Wintler.

"That girl mustn't come to any harm. Are we going the best way to work to protect her?"

"What more can we do?"

"I know that perfectly well, but we can't sit still at Higher Yatton waiting for something to happen."

"We might send Sheldon, at any rate. He keeps his head in a tight place."

"Well, I'll see the commissioner. If he approves, off he goes."

"Well, I can't tackle this job here. I'm taking all this stuff to Baker street. Will you look through my synopsis before it is forwarded to Simmonds?"

"My dear Charles, why should I deny myself a literary treat? Turn up here at 7:30 and I'll even stand you a dinner."

Lady Doone insisted that Buchanan's body should be sent to Yorkshire for interment in the village where he was born. So the butler followed his master in a last journey.

Sheldon traveled by the same train. He was made welcome at Higher Yatton by a saddened house party.

No one had pretended to regret the strange old autocrat who tried to bend everyone to his will yet could not control his own evil nature, but Buchanan, a mere butler, had won the regard of all who came in contact with him.

Lady Doone and Esme were genuinely grieved, but the older woman was the more perturbed in spirit because she feared that her aged friend had died so suddenly that he was unable to dispel the mystery attending her nephew's marriage in Buenos Aires. She pretended to accept Arden's assurance that some official in Scotland Yard, the very man who had been conducting a special inquiry in Higher Yatton itself, was positive as to the immense value of Buchanan's disclosures, but she was not content until she got in touch with that august personage, the chief commissioner himself.

He was more informative than the cautious Sheldon. He vouched for the fact that if the butler's written statements could be verified by parish registers and other legal records there could be no manner of doubt as to Esme Bernore's status in law.

Her ladyship was vastly surprised, however, by a sudden influx of strangers in and about the immediate vicinity of the house during the absence of her guests. She was unaccountably restless these days, or she would never have noticed the intruders.

"James," she said, having summed up.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE SHOOTING AT SANTIAGO, CUBA, OF AMERICANS TAKEN ABOARD THE GUN-RUNNER "VIRGINIA" (1873) ROUSED THE ANGER OF THE AMERICAN PUBLIC AGAINST SPAIN. THERE WAS TALK OF WAR, AND THE NEWSPAPER BULLETINS WERE WATCHED FOR BY EXCITED CROWDS.

HOWEVER, DIPLOMACY TRIUMPHED. SPAIN CLAIMED THE "VIRGINIA" WAS NOT AN AMERICAN CRAFT, BUT GAVE UP THE VESSEL AND RELEASED ALL OF THE PASSENGERS AND CREW WHO SURVIVED.

The Case of the "Virginia"—Part Three: by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

©1927 MCGRAW-HILL PUBLISHING CO.

THE ILL-STARRED "VIRGINIA" SET OUT FOR AN AMERICAN PORT, BUT SANK IN A HURRICANE OFF CAPE HATTERAS. AN INVESTIGATION REVEALED THAT HER AMERICAN REGISTRY WAS FALSE. IN 1875 SPAIN TRIED TO SMOOTH THINGS OVER BY GIVING $80,000 TO THE FAMILIES OF THE AMERICANS SHE HAD EXECUTED AS PIRATES.

AMERICANS WERE MORE INDIGNANT THAN BEFORE WHEN GENERAL BURRIEL, WHO HAD GIVEN THE ORDER FOR THE EXECUTIONS, WAS CALLED TO SPAIN AND PROMOTED AFTER A BRIEF SUSPENSION. SPAIN CONTINUED TO GRIND THE CUBANS UNDER HER HEEL. TOMORROW—WEATHER BUREAU ESTABLISHED—1875.

DINNER FEATURES EMORY BIRTHDAY

Emory graduates of old Oxford days, when girls on the campus were almost as rare as holidays, will get a touch of coeducation tonight at the fifth annual charter day dinner on the Analer roof, for which a group of the university's coeds will act as usherettes.

Still further coeducational atmosphere will develop from the fact that the 18 students of the Atlanta Library school, now affiliated with Emory, will attend the dinner, as will the senior nurses of the university hospital.

Advance ticket sales Tuesday indicated that the attendance at the banquet tonight will approach, if not exceed, the 600 present at the Biltmore two years ago. Seventy-two class councilmen, representing the college and medical graduates of the last 32 years, have been busy for three weeks selling tickets to the 1928 celebration. An attendance cup, similar to the one won two years ago by the class of 1902 and last year by 1923, will be awarded to the class having the largest percentage of its Atlanta members present.

Simultaneously with the holding of the Atlanta dinner, Emory alumni in 56 other cities, scattered over 26 states, will hold meetings tonight, commemorating the thirtieth anniversary of the granting of a charter to Emory university and the ninety-second year of Emory college.

Featuring the program at the Analer, which will be broadcast for the benefit of Emory's $400,000 alumni fund, will be an address by President Harvey W. Cox on "The Emory of the Future." The university executive has indicated that he will make several important announcements concerning Emory's future plans and policies. Preceding his address, Judge J. K. Hines of the class of 1872, will talk on "The Emory of the Past," and Dr. W. A. Shelton, of the faculty, will speak on "The Emory of the Present."

As a tribute to the memory of Thomas W. Connally, president of the University Alumni association, who died on December 30, Dr. Stewart R. Roberts will open the program with a paper entitled, "Thomas Whipple Connally—Ideal Alumnus."

Members of Emory's glee and instrumental clubs, under the direction of Dr. M. H. Dewey, will furnish music and "stunts."

Officers of the Atlanta alumni chapter are: President, Dr. Allen H. Bunker, who will act as toastmaster; vice president, Charles B. Shelton; secretary, Joe E. Fagan; treasurer, S. Russell Bridges, Dr. F. K. Boland, general chairman of the banquet committee.

EX-OFFICER KILLS CHIEF AND SELF

Albany, Ga., January 24.—(AP)—R. S. Wallis, chief of the Albany police department, and R. O. Melton, former policeman, are dead as the result of a shooting which occurred in the city hall this morning.

Melton shot Chief Wallis twice above the heart and then turned the gun on himself. Melton died within five minutes, but Chief Wallis lived several hours after having been removed to the hospital, where he died shortly after noon.

The shooting occurred in the toilet room of the city hall. There were no eye-witnesses. Chief Wallis made the statement that he had been in the city hall this morning. Melton had first shot him and then turned the gun on himself. Chief Wallis' pistol had not been fired and Melton's had been fired three times.

Lloyd Parks Is Named Head Of Druid Hills Golf Club

LYOYD B. PARKS.

Lloyd B. Parks, prominent Atlanta business man and popular in club circles, was elected president of the Druid Hills Golf club for 1928 at the annual meeting held Tuesday night at the clubhouse. Robert E. Troutman, well-known Atlanta lawyer, was named vice president. Henry W. Davis will serve as treasurer.

New directors were named as follows: Grover Middlebrooks, George Harris, Lee Ashcraft, J. R. Pattillo and Harry Summers. The following are serving in executive terms: J. F. Williams, B. J. Holcomb, Alfred C. Newell, George W. Bryan and R. P. Barnett.

A buffet supper and dance was given at the club after the election of officers.

GEORGIA LUTHERANS TO MEET THURSDAY

Doubling the present rate of pension paid retired and disabled ministers, the principal aim of the $4,000,000 pension fund campaign in the United Lutheran Church in America, will be the chief business before the synod of Georgia when it meets for annual session here Thursday.

The synod, which is composed of Lutheran congregations throughout Georgia and Florida, has conducted preliminary conference sessions at Jacksonville, Fla., president of the synod, during the past two months with the result that the enthusiasm for the new fund has been greatly Dr. C. P. MacLaughlin increased. It will be this enthusiasm that is harnessed to the actual work of soliciting subscriptions from every member of every congregation in the churches when the campaign begins February 5, that will occupy the minds of the ministers and delegates here Thursday.

The quota for the Georgia synod is $20,400. The Rev. W. E. Pugh, of Jacksonville, Fla., president of the synod, will preside. He will be assisted in the work of organization for the pension fund campaign by the president of the Georgia conference, Rev. G. E. Snyder, of Tampa, Fla., president of the Florida conference, and the Rev. C. P. MacLaughlin, of this city, president of the northern conference.

The church press pays an annual pension of $300 to its disabled and retired ministers who have passed the age of 65 years. This, it has been repeatedly pointed out, amounts to only 85 cents a day despite the fact that to many it means the only source of income following upon a life of penury enforced by a near-starvation salary.

With the income from the $4,000,000 it will be able to increase this amount from $300 to $600 annually and at the same time do a greater amount of relief work with corresponding increases in the allowances paid widows and orphans of ministers of the Lutheran church.

DRASTIC SCHOOL CHANGE IS URGED

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Establishment of a cosmopolitan school district composed of all public schools in Atlanta and Fulton county was urged at a meeting of the South Fulton Improvement league Tuesday night at College Park, which unanimously endorsed Walter B. Stewart for Fulton county commissioner. Edwin F. Johnson for Fulton county tax collector and Joe A. Wells for Fulton county school superintendent.

The session was presided over by Hugh Couch, former mayor of College Park, and was held in the city hall at College Park. About 300 persons attended.

Alfred Broome, prominent College Park attorney, advanced the school consolidation idea during his address, declaring "The Atlanta school system is floundering financially and should be established on a firm basis."

Favors Special Tax.

He advocated formation of a special board to be selected from the school district thus formed and stated it should be empowered to levy a special tax to finance the schools and be divorced from any other governmental activities. He stated that it would be connected with any government but that the county tax collector would collect the special tax and turn it over to the school board for administration.

He actually reduced its taxes and still have more money for public improvement."

Mr. Broome said "This to my mind is one of the outstanding needs of not only Fulton county, but of the city of Atlanta. The children of the county and city would benefit materially by the change."

Mr. Stewart, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Wells have announced for the respective positions to which they aspire subject to the county democratic primary to be held March 7. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Johnson made short speeches asking the support of the league in their races. Mr. Wells was represented by Joe Humphries, a member of the Fulton county board of education, who also praised Mr. Johnson and Mr. Stewart for their constructive and sympathetic service to the schools of Fulton county."

McClendon Represents.

Leonard Crawford represented John McClendon, candidate for the position of solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta in opposition to Carlton W. Binns, incumbent. Mr. Binns was unable to attend the session, but announced he would be present when the association meets January 31 at East Point.

"I am peculiarly gratified that this league, which first endorsed me and put me in the race for Fulton county commissioner, has seen fit to endorse

Power Company Salesmen Break Many Records

The annual banquet of the sales department of the Georgia Power company at the Atlanta Athletic club Tuesday night brought to a close a two-day meeting of the company's district salesmen, who also participated in sales campaigns for 1928 were discussed during the Monday and Tuesday sessions.

Sales totals announced at the dinner Tuesday night showed that the company had broken former records in every line of electric power and gas sales and sales of electric and gas appliances, and had set one national record.

In a recent radio sales campaign the power company sold more sets than has any other central station during a similar period of time. It also showed that the company during 1927 exceeded previous year's records in the sale of wholesale and retail power, industrial gas, power for domestic uses, kilowatt hours per customer, and the increase in the total number of electricity and gas customers during the year. It new electric distribution systems were purchased and systems were rebuilt in 24 towns.

P. S. Arkwright, president of the company, and W. E. Mitchell, vice president and general manager, were principal speakers at the banquet. C. A. Collier, vice president in charge of sales department, acted as toastmaster.

ATTACK LAUNCHED ON CHAIN-STORE TAX IN GEORGIA

Another attack on the legality of the chain store tax imposed by the last legislature was made Tuesday when Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, granted a temporary restraining order, prohibiting Commissioners John W. Vandiver, of the state revenue department, from collecting the tax on the J. C. Penny company stores pending a hearing set for February.

The order was signed on petition of the Penny company, operators of nine dry goods concerns in as many Georgia cities. The paper contended the tax, which provides for a $250 levy on all stores in a chain of more than five, is "discriminatory and contrary to constitutional law."

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

"Go to work, or face the recorder; how come?" was the warning issued Tuesday by Police Chief James L. Beavers to Atlanta's idlers and loiterers. Police watches, who are instructed to keep a sharp check on idling and loitering.

NUNNALLY CO. FILES $509,931.29 SUIT TO RECOVER TAXES

Suit to recover $509,931.29 from Josiah T. Rose, collector of internal revenue for Georgia, was filed Tuesday in federal district by the Nunnally Investment company.

The company claims that this amount was paid under protest in September, 1924, as additional income taxes demanded by Collector Rose on the alleged profits made by the company from the sale of its business and properties when the candy manufacturing firm was sold and reorganized in 1920.

The petition avers that the additional tax assessment by the collector was based on an erroneous idea of the profit involved in the transaction and that payment was made in 1928 merely to avoid contemplated litigation which might have resulted in the seizure and sale of the company's assets by the government. The company also is asking the government to pay interest at 6 per cent since September, 1926, when the money is refunded.

The suit was filed by the law firm of McCumber and Brand, of Washington, D. C., the firm of Anderson, Rontree and Crenshaw, of Atlanta, and Attorney Granger Hansell.
